Young And Duke On Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. stepped onto a rocky plateau today to begin man's first exploration in the mountains of the moon.

Young's footfall, the ninth human imprint in the ancient lunar dust, was recorded at 11:56 a.m. EST. Duke followed him down the ladder of the landing ship Orion five minutes later.

"Here you are mysterious and unknown Descartes, highland plains," Young said as he touched the surface. "Apollo 16 is going to change your image."

The explorers hope in this mountainous Descartes region to find evidence that volcanoes once erupted beneath the lunar surface, sculpturing mountains, canyons and plains in the formative period more than four billion years ago.

An antenna problem on Orion prevented a television camera from relaying pictures of their first steps on the moon as was the case on previous lunar landings.

The astronauts were to erect their own portable antenna on the surface to make later television possible.

Young and Duke, who almost had their landing cancelled Thursday when astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly had trouble with the command ship Casper, were awestruck by the landscape of mountains, craters and desolate desert-like terrain.

"It's absolutely beautiful!" Duke exclaimed. "There are rocks all over the place."

"Fantastic, super!" Young said.

"There's a big hole over there. I never saw such a big hole," the Apollo 16 commander commented. "It's probably 10 meters deep."

He said the landing site was smooth and couldn't have been better.

"Anyplace else around here and we'd have landed on a great big slope," he said.

The explorers, eager to get started today, quickly ran through their suitup and checklists and moved outside ahead of schedule.

They depressurized the cabin so that it matched the outside vacuum and after checking with Mission Control, Young said: "Okay, let's go."

As the Apollo 16 commander stood on the hatch stoop, he exclaimed: "My golly, how beautiful! There is a big boulder!"

Regional Bid For Industry Begins

MALDEN — Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, announced last night the formation of a regional industrial development committee with Marion Waggener, Charleston, as Chairman during the commission's meeting.

Lea said that on a regional basis no individual devotes full time to promoting industry for the Bootheel's approximately 10,000 acres of industrial park land, which represents a $20,000,000 investment. Lea said he hopes to employ a full-time industrial person around July 1.

Waggener said that he felt that such a program had merit especially since no town or county had the financial capability for a development program.

The commission for three years has assembled community profile data on the 55 towns in the area. It has completed a population economic study and an optimum growth industry study.

Lea said a meeting was held in New Madrid with leaders interested in industrial development throughout the six-county area. It was the concensus that a regional industrial development program would be an asset.

Waggener said that an application for monies to the state government has been submitted and approval is expected soon.

Lea announced members of the committee:

Judge [illegible]ideth, Jr., of Cari[illegible]ville, Mayor Harry B. Dowdy, Hayti; Layton Pickard, Charleston; Sam Hunter, New Madrid; Richard T. Reed, East Prairie;

Mayor Randall Ramsey, Parma; Mayor Sparrel W. Davis, Malden; Mayor William Inman, Caruthersville; Charles Royal, Malden;

Richard Martin, City Manager, Charleston; Mayor Lloyd Hogan, East Prairie; Dr. Harry Goddard, Mayor, Kennett;

George Storey, East Prairie; John Hall Dalton, Kennett; Pat Lea; Mayor Lloyd Booker, Steele; Lewis Jones, Dexter;

Duane Michie, Hayti; Mayor Frank Ferrell, Sikeston; R. J. Dirks, Malden; L. F. Wheeler, Route 2, Sikeston; Judge John Calvin, New Madrid; Judge Lefler Lee, Star Route, Dexter.

No Waste, Says Crime Lab Director

Reports that federal funds earmarked for crime control are being wasted or not even spent are not valid for Missouri, Robert Briner, director of the Law Enforcement Assistance Council Crime Laboratory in Cape Girardeau said yesterday.

Briner spoke to the Southeast Missouri Peace Officers Association meeting at the American Legion Hall.

According to press reports, Briner said, about 25 per cent of the funds designated for law enforcements agencies under the 1968 Safe Streets Act, have not been spent.

This is not true in Missouri, Briner said. The state has used the money wisely, allocating it to all regions, he added.

One of the agencies financed through the act is the crime lab on the campus of Southeast Missouri State College.

Before 1968, when the Laboratory was founded, rural law agencies had to send evidence to Jefferson City for analysis, Briner said. The lab could not keep pace with the mounting demand for services.

The lab began its career as a drug identification center; a good idea, Briner said, since

Choice For Manager Narrows

Applications for the city manager's post have been narrowed to three but the decision on who will be chosen is still over a month away, Mayor Frank Ferrell said yesterday.

Ferrell said that city officials have talked to two of the men. The third will be interviewed soon.

"As long as we have a good man filling in," Ferrell said of acting city manager Bill Whitlock, "we can afford to take our time." He said the city would rather spend the extra time reviewing the applicants and making sure of the right man rather than make a bad choice.

The city is replacing Raymert Miller, who resigned as city manager in February after 11 years in the office. He left to join a construction firm.

Fisk Bridge Reopened

The St. Francis River bridge on Route 60 at Fisk, which was damaged when a truck struck it April 7, and closed to traffic, was reopened at 10 a.m. today.

Repair work has not been completed but will be continued under traffic. Traffic on the bridge will be restricted to one-way during week days while repair work is completed. Two to three weeks will be required for completion of the work.

Flagmen will be positioned on each end during periods of one- way traffic and motorists are asked by highway officials to exercise caution when approaching or crossing the bridge.

Two Hurt As Trucks Collide

A Parma man and his wife received minor injuries at 1:45 p.m. yesterday on South Main Street, near the Holiday Inn when their pick-up truck was struck by a two- ton truck.

William and Delores Stevens were treated and released from Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

According to police a truck driven by Donald Joe Lacy, 1313 East Malone, attempted to stop behind another vehicle, skidded out of control, crossed the centerline, and struck the side of the Stevens' vehicle.

U.S. Strikes North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers and fighter-bombers struck deep into North Vietna)$ng,day, attacking supply depoenxtransportation facilities and air depo2ses 80 miles south of Hanoi, the northern capital.

Aground, North Vietnamese troops launched furious attacks around An Loc and knocked a South Vietnamese battalion out of action near that district capital 60 miles north of Saigon.

In announcing the raids on North Vietnam, the U.S. Command said the attacks centered around Thanh Hoa near the coast, 215 miles north of the demilitarized zone separating the Vietnams. An Air Force F4 Phantom jet was shot down 42 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa. The two crewmen baowo out over the Gulf of Tonkin and were rescued by helicopter, the Command reported. zanub5The raids were the deepest since heavy strikes last Sunday near Hanoi and the nearby port of Haiphong. In both cases, the aerial blows were aimed at knocking out supplies feeding the North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam.

'he U.S. command said in a statement that the latest raids were against "military targets in North Vietnam that are helping support the Communist invasion across the demilitarized zone into South Vietnum."

The Command declined to disclose the number of aircraft involved in the strikes, but other sources said as many nov B52s and 100 to 150 Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers took part.

The United Stsao) resumed the bombing of North Vietnam last April 6, a week after the North Vietnamese l nb7hed the biggest offensive since Tet 1968.

The battalion put out of acafn08 at An Loc was a paratrooper unit credited with good fighting ability. It lost 100 men killed or wounded out of 500 and was lifted out of the battle zone by helicopters, field reports said.

Two Bills To Hearnes

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House sent to the governor today a

2ng- to authorize certain counties to set up solid waste disposal systems and one to license boarding homes for the elderly.

The solid waste bill would authorize second, third and fourth class counties to levy a tax up to 10 cents—if approved by the voters—to fund disposal facilities. It would not apply to cities already having their own disposal systems. It was passed 140-1.

The House accepted Senate changes in a measure to make licensing of boarding homes mandatory although the sponsor said the changes pulled the teeth from his original bill.

Rep. Charles Dickey, D-Mexico, told the House he hopes to phase in a stringent program of regulation for so-called "bootleg boarding homes" next session. The bill passed 123-16.

Also sent to the governor was a bill designed to encourage wild-cat drilling for oil and gas.

The House continued to work on bills through early afternoon then planned to recess until 3 p.m. Saturday.

Majority Floor Leader Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, said the House must stand by waiting for action from a Senate-House conference committee on appropriation bills to run state government next year.

THE HAPPINESS OF WOMANHOOD

An organization has sprung up in Kingman, Arizona, that is called Happiness of Womanhood. It is dedicated to the preservation of the family, that is, preservation of the masculine role of guide, protector and provider, and the feminine role of wife, mother and homemaker.

It seeks to achieve a membership of 10 million. to "insure respect for God's divine plan, the family structure," to "remove Communist and Socialist teachings from our schools," to "remove Women's Liberation movement teachings from our schools," to "teach our young daughters the joys of womanhood." to "preserve femininity" and "resore morality," to "eliminate drug abuse, return to patriotism" and "elect to governmental office men or women who are dedicated to God," the family and the nation.

It has a League of Housewives who promise "never again to say, "I am JUST a housewife,' " or to accept mail addressed to Ms., or to subscribed to "so-called women's magazines that are promoting the Women's Liberation movement." Instead they promise to "practice the art of Femininity and make my husband aware at all times that I am a woman," and "to do all I can to dispel the idea that HOUSEWIVES are frumpy." Their pledge to the men is: "You make the living and we'll make life worth living."

HOW is opposed to the Equal Rights Constitutional Amendment, and expressed outrage that only eight United Senators opposed it. HOW said that the destiny of American women was being determined by Women's Lib, representing 3 per cent of the women of the country. It is now seeking to prevent ratification of the amendment by the required number of States — 38.

SECRETARY'S LIBERATION

Power behind the throne or glorified "go-fer"? Playboy Bunny reject or super-efficient automaton? Surrogate wife and mother or stylish young swinger? Probably no other occupational group has been as stereotyped in the public mind as the secretary. Even the National Secretaries Association, which objects strenuously to these popular images, has indulged in a few of its own. The 28,000-member organization is sponsoring a Secretaries Week beginning on Sunday, April 23, "to bring recognition to professional secretaries for their role as management's right arm in business, industry, education, government and the professions." The Labor Department estimates there are 4,005,000 secretaries, stenographers and typists presently employed in the United States.

At the turn of the century 90 per cent of all secretaries were men. Today the vast majority are women. There are now about 63,000 men in the profession and only 10 of these are members of the National Secretaries Association. With demand far exceeding supply, male secretaries have become a status symbol for the rich, the famous and the powerful. They are often spared much of the common secretarial drudgery, and a Labor Department study revealed that they make nearly 20 per cent more than their female counterparts.

Women's liberationists point to their secretarial sisters as prime examples of sexual discrimination and exploitation. There is increasing evidence that their message is being heard. In February the State Department began a campaign for better treatment for secretaries. In March a number of New York secretaries joined a National Organization for Women picket line of the Olivetti Corporation for what they believe were degrading typewriter advertisements. Today's young graduates are showing far less enthusiasm about enrolling in secretarial school than did their predecessors five or ten years ago. Individual secretaries are airing their grievances in a very un-Katy Gibbs -like way.

Despite the complaints, there is no indication that the supply of secretaries will suddently dry up. Patricia Clark, the private secretary to a corporate vice president, wrote in Dun's (January 1972): "Why do women, like myself, who feel that they are capable of doing more than secretarial work, get themselves enmeshed in that role? They have little choice. The jobs for which I was suitable outside the secretarial field paid about $3,000 a year less -- and they all asked how my typing was anyway. Doing secretarial work for less pay is my idea of real exploitation."

GUNS VS. LIPSTICK

It has been calculated that the total worth of the common stock of the 10 largest companies in the so-called military-industrial complex is about $4.7 billion.

That is less than that of a single cosmetics firm. Avon is rated at about $5.6 billion.

Annual spending on cosmetics exceeds $5 billion a year in the United States, says Patrick Ryan, writing in the Smithsonian, the magazine published by that institution. But rather than join the carpers who point out all the things the nation could buy with that money, Ryan defends the "cosmetological complex."

"We die without dreams," he says.

And anyway, he adds, the face goo, lipstick, miracle potions and whatnot insure that at least half the human landscape is more pleasant to the passing eye than evolution has thus far crudely achieved.

SMUDGEPOT TAHT FLIES

Yet another use has been found for the workhorse of the sky, the helicopter — as a "flying smudgepot," no less.

Using helicopters to blow warm air down on trees to protect them from frost would save money for growers and at the same time reduce air pollution from orchard heaters, says Marvin Miller, an Agriculture Extension citrus expert at the University of California in Riverside.

"For $100 an hour, a helicopter can economically protect about 100 acres," he says.

That may not sound very cheap, but without a helicopter, Miller points out, a grower has to invest perhaps $60,000 in wind machines and pay about $150 in operating costs for the same period on the same number of acres.

HARD TO DO BUSINESS

Ever notice how much business individual citizens must transact with government bodies -- and how difficult it is to do so?

Except for fire departments and police, "servants of the public" enjoy more closed office hours than any other segment of the work-a-day world.

Many government offices are seldom open on the weekend, even on Saturday mornings. A call to anybody in federal offices after 4:30 p.m. weekdays will generally leave you stranded with a telephone operator saying she's sorry, but ... School doors are locked earlier than business closing hours. The list is endless for people wishing to pay taxes, buy a license plate, record deeds, mail a package, seek advice on old age pension, or apply for social security.

Some business can be done by correspondence or phone but within the short and specified hours only.

For some weeks, a Washington, D.C., television station has been waging a lonely campaign to get government agencies to keep office hours that are convenient for the public. A station spokesman pointed out that many agencies for the most part are open for business hours which suit themselves. "The public preferences don't count for much," he said, "which is quite ironic since the public is the employer."

Vaginal sprays may mask odors, but according to increasing reports in medical journals, a number of women are allergic to either the spray or the propellant in the aerosols. Irritations have resulted.

When vaginal odor is pronounced, there is usually an underlying medical condition for which a gynecologist should be consulted. Especially when a discharge is present, the source of the problem may be vaginitis. Once diagnosed, the physician may recommend internal cleansing with an alkaline douche solution such as Trichotine, or he may prescribe specific drugs for the infection, or both. It has been estimated that one-third of all women of childbearing age experience vaginitis at some time.

AMERICAN DREAM FALLACY

Although many picture the Great American Dream as getting away from it all to a quiet little place in the country, University of Wisconsin sociologists don't believe it.

Few people, say James Zuiches and Glenn Fuguitt, are actually moving to isolated rural areas. In fact, they say, the trend is in quite the opposite direction.

Basing their statements on data from the 1970 census and a survey of their home state of Wisconsin, the researchers say that most people actually want to live in small towns or rural areas but within commuting distance of a large central city.

"These results do not mean that rural development should be discouraged," Zuirches says, "but if rural development programs are to succeed, they must take into account the features of life that make small towns and rural areas near metropolitan centers the most preferred residential locations."

Hal Boyle

By MICHAEL C. SINCLAIR
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Looking backward into my childhood becomes more and more difficult as I grow older, as it does for most of us.

But there are those fleeting moments when a familiar sight or sound or smell transports me to yesteryear with a feeling of exhilaration I seldom experience these days.

Such was the case on a recent warm spring afternoon as gusty winds sang through the trees around our house and the clothes on a neighbor's backyard line cracked whiplike in the breezes.

I was looking for some greenish hint of the season among the matted brown grass when from the vacant lot down the street there appeared silhouetted against the fluffy white clouds some brightly colored objects soaring high into the air.

In the few brief moments it took my memory to recall the image of a small boy standing in an open field tugging on a thin white string that trailed off into the sky, my two young sons also noticed the airborne objects.

Off to the corner variety store, where I discovered that the kite—once a 15-cent toy—has changed considerably.

No longer are they made of tissue thin paper and brittle wooden sticks. Today, thanks to modern science, a trash-bagthick film of gaudy plastic is stretched over a frame of pencil-thick plastic rods.

Gone too is the cotton string that often proved no match for the stiff April winds. In its place are balls of stranded nylon twine with labels proudly declaring the product's superior tensile strength.

Most alarming was the inflationary impact on my childhood toy. Once you could buy many afternoons of entertainment and thrills for the better part of a quarter.

Alas, those days are gone forever, and I plunked down $3 to arm my sons with the latest in aerodynamic design, strength and maneuverability.

From the label I learned that strips of multicolored cloth tied painstakingly in streamer fashion as a tail to stabilize the diamond-shaped bird was a thing of the past. The newest models resemble giant hawks in flight and I cringed as one of the boys chose one vividly imprinted with two huge bloodshot eyes that stared down at you from on high.

Despite the changes wrought by times and the economy, I quickly found that becoming a child again is not as difficult as I had thought.

I craned my neck toward the bright sky and tugged with a secret thrill against the string as it slipped through my fingers and arched into the clouds.

Jarred to reality by the ugging at my pants' leg and the whimpering of my youngest offspring, whose string was hopelessly tangled in a nearby tree, I smiled and hugged him as an older and wiser parent had once done with me.

At 30 and growing older, there are few memories that bring the kind of pleasure that a spring wind blows across my mind. But as long as there are kites, spring will always be my favorite time of year.

ONCE UPON A TIME .... there was an ant who worked hard all day in the fields. It was summer and the ant was busy cutting grass and dragging it home. The ant had a grasshopper for a neighbor. The grasshopper sat in the door singing all day. When winter came, the ant had a whole bale of grass, but he had violated the Farm Law for overharvesting grass. He was fined $162.50 and the surplus was seized. The grasshopper received the surplus in exchange for his food stamps.

TRANSPORTATION REVOLU' National Geographic magazine has presented a fascinating pictorial essay on "The COming Revolution in Transportation." Among the transport developments it illustrates and describes are gigantic hovercraft ferries and hydrofoils. Pictured also is the latest generation of jet aircraft and high - speed trains.

The problems of modern transportation are also touched upon and oddly enough these are more administrative in nature than technical. Topping the list of problems is that of meshing into a coordinated whole the several transportation modes. As Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe puts it: "What we need most is a coordinated policy -- a balanced transportation plan that can bring this Nation efficient, economical, safe ways of traveling." Significantly, the railroad industry, an old hand at transporting people and goods, long ago recognized this very need. Only recently, the president of the Assoc. of American Railroads expressed the need in this way: "people informed on transportation matters are becoming increasingly aware of the need for transportation which combines the services of the several modes of transport into a one-package service." COntinuing, he said whether it's called diversification or common ownership, "we're talking about a single agency that can move goods by air, rail, road or water, or any combination of these, in the best interests of all parties involved."

The rails have been seeking legal freedom to own and operate other modes of transport. The sooner they are granted this freedom, the sooner we will have a balanced transportation system to go with the technological developments National Geographic magazine presents so dramatically.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON - The turntables of the billion-dollar industry are lubricated by payola, including bootleg drugs. Corrupt record companies slip marijuana, cocaine, LSD, and other drugs to disc jockeys and radio programmers for promoting "hit" records.

In our March 31 column, we reported that record companies were paying off dis jockeys in the form of cash, cars, concubines and the like. We have now learned that the payola scandals of 1959-60 have grown like rank weeds into a drug scandal of the 1970s.

Informants in the record industry, appalled at what is happening in their jangly world of sound, have come to us with information. We are withholding their names because they fear job reprisals and Mafia enforcers.

In interviews with my associate Les Whitten, and in written statements, they attest to such episodes as these:

--A promotion man for a well-known record company bought "plays" for his firm's records from radio station music directors with $20 lots of marijuana. The promotion man complained that it was difficult to find a way to list "pot" on the expense account.

--A prominent independent promoter-producer held all-day salons at which he provided assortments of drugs to disc jockeys, performers and station music directors. Our informant attended one such "promotion" session.

--An artist promoting his own record agreed to deliver drugs each week to a writer for a record magazine. In talks overheard by our witness, the pills were identified as "different colored 'shirts.' " The "shirts" were pills and the colors "referred to the type of pills to be delivered," said our informant. Not surprisingly, the record zoomed up on the publication's popularity list even though the artist was almost unknown.

So worried about the drug problem is the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) that its earnest president, Stanley Gortikov, made private calls in March to record company presidents to demand an end to drug payola.

Determined though he was to take strong action, Gortikov nevertheless wanted to prevent leaks about the drug scandal, so he discreetly read the letter to the executives but never sent them a copy.

We have now persuaded Gortikov to give us the text of his "letter," which describes the depths of the drug problem within the industry.

"Several years ago," wrote Gortikov, a former president of Capitol records, "our industry was fouled by a series of payola inquiries and charges. A repetition of this trauma may be imminent today with even more damaging potential consequences because of the possible involvement of drugs-for-play...

"Record representatives have allegedly purchased certain drugs as gifts for radio personnel in exchange for broadcast favors." Gortikov confided to the executives that "I cannot confirm the accuracy of the facts," but he added tht "these reports. if true, mirror a reprehensible condition for us all both commercially and morally.

"Such practices and their inevitable revelations invite repercusions that our industry can ill afford-government investigations, imposition of outside rules and standards, loss of imagery and credibility, financial penalty and personal disasters for individuals."

Gortikov demanded "immediate and imperative action" against "any form of pay-for-play" which he called "unconscionable, immoral and commercially self- destructive.

INVESTIGATION URGED

The veteran industry leader went so far as to urge the record companies to conduct investigations and surveillances to root out those dealing in payola among their own employees and among independent operators working as outside promoters, distributors and producers.

"The foregoing plan is stringent," said Gortikov," but we have much at stake."

Gortikov's appeal is too recent to show any real results, but our investigation has shown that most record company officials prefer to remain in the dark about how their records are peddled.

We have learned that drug-for play promotion men buy dope in broker's lots. charging off the cost to "routine promotion expenses." They deal mainly in mairjuana, although insiders have repeatedly told us cocaine is the "with it" drug this year in show biz.

In fairness to the record industry, while payola appears to be epidemic, the drug payola is apparently limited to only a few record companies and radio stations. It is particularly insidious since it fosters the narcotics traffic that poisons the industry's own youthful record customers.

Footnote: Federal Communications Commission chairman Dean Burch has assured us that the FCC will investigate the payola scandal. In his letter to us he asked for leads on payola suspects in the industry. We have offered to provide the names and details, without identifying our informants. As yet, Burch has sent us no reply.

ALL THE DEMOCRATS WANT JOBS

With a possible half dozen or more announcing or indicating they will announce for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket, the New Year comes in with the indication the national field may look something like that in the Democratic race for nomination for Governor of Missouri. In both races for nomination it appears we may be fielding a full baseball team or a football squad.

Now, if the people were allowed to vote on those nominations at the national as well as the state level, a lot of people would be happier and feel they'd have a chance to vote for their favorite instead of having the candidate chosen by a small group of men and women, then saying to us: "Here he is, whether or not you like him."——Paris Appeal.

WOULD MERELY RAISE COSTS

A pre-paid funeral plan bill that is being introduced in the Legislature by a Representative from Greene County sounds good, but probably would only result in higher costs for such insurance, most of which is bought by the older and lower income folks.

Present laws allow the sellers to retain as their own any interest that may be earned on the policy payments made to them. His law would force the seller to return all such earnings to the buyer.

Present laws also provide that the seller may retain up to 20 per cent of any total paid in, if the policy holder cancels it. His bill would require the seller to return 100%.

Our guess is that the costs of such insurance have been figured rather closely and there is not sufficient margin of profit to pay the proposed extra expense.

If that is true, the only result would be a rise in costs of such policies. The buyer's last estate would be no better than his first in that event.

It appears to us a better way would be to require that actuarial cost studies be used in determining premiums to be paid, and the sellers profit limited. —— Paris Appeal.

PLIGHT OF THE POLICE

Attacks on our police officers across the nation continue. These are not just physical assaults but also verbal outbursts that cast aspersions on our first line of defense against the criminal. Civil rights violation protests have been a continuous thorn in the side of the officer who is trying to live up to his oath of enforcing the law and thus protecting lives and property. Now the Chicago police are being labeled as "trigger-happy."

These accusations are hard to rationalize in view of the fact that day-in and day-out assaults on policemen are chronicled by the daily press And in recent years the most hideous form of attack has come from snippers who are out to kill officers in cold blood. No motive is evident in these outrages. Policemen in squad cars and walking beats have been dispatched by gunmen lying in ambush on buildings.

Recently in Dallas a young patrol officer was killed by a teenage school burglar who had admitted on a previous arrest the commission of dozens of felonies. A few days later a police sergeant was critically wounded in Dallas as he answered a traffic accident call.

Our brave officers of the law never know when they bid their families good-bye on leaving for a tour of duty if they will see them again. The officer knows, as do the members of his family, that the felon who is capable of murder is always out there.

Do the critics who call the officer "trigger-happy" feel the same sense of danger? It is doubtful. For somewhere out in that block where the critic works is a patrolman making his lonely rounds. HLH.

Inside Labor

Labor Chiefs Worried: Non-union construction work sweeping the nation

WASHINGTON —— Operating on the compelling philosophy that you can't import a low-cost highway, a dam or a skyscraper from Japan, the heavy construction companies have been paying solid gold-carat rates to condescending union craftsmen -- including coverage for coffee breaks, slowdowns, featherbedding, bloody jurisdictional warfare, inept work and walking time for a skilled hand to get around to the site of a nail and hammer it at leisure while the whole costly job waited.

Well, the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Dept.'s new leaders now are working overtime,crisscrossing the nation to convince the rank and file not to be so morganatic, that employers have rights, and that they may not be able to import a highway from Japan but they can build it with non-union labor.

And that's exactly what's been happening. In the past two years or so, unionized contractors have lost more than $8 billion to open-shop companies. And this statistic covers only the National Constructors Assn. (NCA)-- and not the entire massive Associated General Contractors, whose members do about $110 billion worth of building annually.

This drift to non-union construction now virtually is the only conservation piece when the general presidents of the 17 nationwide and Canadian AFL-CIO building unions get together. Their department president, Frank Bonadio, in office about a year, spends much of his time traveling, trying to convince the rank and file around the nation that this is a new era, a new economy and that they've lost hundreds of millions of dollars annually in wages. And they'd better get with it. Or they'll be without it. And could be without a union or two if they don't slash their employers' labor costs. There now is 14 per cent joblessness in the industry.

It's been tough for such men as Bonadio and his secretary-treasurer, 39-year -old Robert Georgine.

So in the next week or so you'll hear from the building and construction leaders themselves that union demands have been responsible for many of the problems they face today -- especially the sweep of non-union projects. This comes at a time when behind the scenes there still is a battle between the elusive construction stabilization board chairman Dr. John Dunlop and other government officials, especially a Pay Board subcommittee headed by Prof. Arnold Weber, which is determined to hold the line on construction wages.

Since Nov. 14, Dunlop's Construction Industry Stabilization Committee has approved some contracts averaging between 11.8 per cent and 14.9 per cent, and some rates as high as $1.53 an hour more per man.

True, there have been some renewals at zero increase such as in Tampa and Wichita, Kan. But hovering over these contracts , fretting the local construction union people, has been the sweep of non-union work.

So critical is the non-union invasion that Georgine said recently: "Right now, this is probably the most critical time the building trades has had since the inception since 1908."

So most of the national construction unions' general presidents are turning into industrial evangelists. They're telling their rank and file that too many coffee breaks will break them and the company which hires them -- and that while many contractors want to do business with the unions, they don't want to go bankrupt.

So some firms go dual -- union and non-union. And others just sign with non-AFL-CIO labor supply outfits or with ad hoc unions or independents. Then the building and construction unions rough it up as in Baton Rouge, La., not too long ago when they threw up a picket line around teh big Toro Petroleum project and the non-union workers cracked the line by helicopters.

Blood on the road is no substitute for money in the pay envelope.

So national construction union chiefs are telling their rank and file, give the employer a full day's work for a full day's pay. Respect the pact negotiated last year by a labor "Summit Committee" with the NCA -- no featherbedding, no standby crews, no illegal strikes, no slowdowns, no overtime unless vital. No incompetent stays on the job. No costly restriction on use of labor-saving tools, no holding up a milti-million -dollar job while some distant craftsman takes his time about tightening a pipe though others could have done it in a minute.

No limit on production, no restriction on the number of men in a work gang. Get to work on time and stay there until quitting time. Don't abuse travel time. The employer shall choose the foreman. No non-working shop stewards. If a union doesn't supply qualified workmen in 48 hours, the employer can get men from any source.

"It isn't that we got religion," said one spokesman for the 3.5 million-member AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department. "We're realists. I hope the rank and file are, too. This is a new era."

Holcomb Board Locks Out Dement

HOLCOMB — The Holcomb board of education has locked superintendent James Dement out of office.

The superintendent, was fired from his position and refused to vacate the seat he has held more than 15 years.

A court hearing on a request filed by the board seeking a temporary restraining order against Dement was postponed until May 12 in Dunklin county circuit court.

On April 11, Sikeston attorney Manuel Drumm, representing the Holcomb board, filed the legal papers in circuit court, asking for a temporary restraining order and injunction against Dement, seeking to prevent him from acting as superintendent. Drumm said it is hoped the request will be made into a permanent injunction.

Dement has filed an answer and counter claim to legal petitions filed by the board.

Drumm said the legal action was taken after Dement refused to vacate the premises. "The board is simply attempting to enforce their order made earlier when they announced Dement's firing." Drumm said, "the board is trying to run the school since they are elected by the public to do so."

Judge William H. Billings took the board's request under advisement when it was filed a week ago, tentatively setting the case for hearing Wednesday, when it was continued until the May setting.

In mid-March, the board announced its decision to terminate Dement's employment, citing that recent actions constituted a "breach of contract."

Drumm termed the legal action a "stop the superintendent" movement. In the petition presented the court, the board contends Dement's contract is not valid since he violated terms of the contract. The board contends Dement is not eligible for his contract pay, which does not expire until 1973, due to his "inability" to manage the school affairs.

The Daily Democrat learned today the telephone in the superintendent's office is being disconnected and routed through to another office.

One board member, speaking for the board, said the office has been locked since Monday in an all- out effort to get Dement out.

Dement's attorney filed the counter- claims against the school board and the individual board members, Jerrus Don Harris, Delbert W. Hawkins, Charles Champ, Philip R. Russom, Roland E. Morgan and Jack Vancil.

The petition filed on Dement's behalf denies the allegations pointed out in the petition and claims Dement's rights were violated, the board had no legal authority to take such action, and the board failed to mention any specific grounds as the reason for the dismissal.

Dement's petition contends the board did not comply with the Teachers Tenure Act, which protects the tenure of a permanent teacher. The petition also points out no specific grounds were ever given the defendant and the vote to terminate his contract was taken before any notice or hearing was given him, in violation of Missouri statutes.

Dement claims in the counterclaim the statute the board relied upon in their petition is not applicable in the Holcomb District, but only applies to a metropolitan school district. The statute in question states the board has the power to terminate a superintendent by a majority vote.

The petition also claims Dement has been deprived of his rights under the law as to notice of the specific charges and the action taken by the board.

The petition also mentions the "locking up" of the superintendent's office Monday, in addition to denying Dement admittance to other school facilities in order to carry out his job.

Swink Disqualifies Self From 94 Cases

FARMINGTON, Mo. (AP) — A dispute between a circuit court judge and the Ste. Francois County prosecutor has led to disqualification of the judge from all cases pending in his court.

Judge J. O. Swink said Wednesday he has disqualified himself from all 94 criminal cases at the request of Prosecuting Atty. Stanley J. Murphy.

The prosecutor said in a series of motions that Swink would be prejudiced in court cases he presents. The trouble started last month when Swink took exception to a traffic ticket issued to his court reporter, Murphy said.

Swink said he thinks one reason for the motions is that he has criticized Murphy's handling of traffic tickets.

Swink is the only judge in the 24th Circuit. He said his disqualification could set back criminal court proceedings for the next four or five years because of the heavy cases of other judges.

Ann Landers

Invitation To Baby Shower To The Point

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is hooked on The Supermarket Syndrome. He sits for hours and reads the food ads. Then he cuts out all the coupons and makes a road map indicating where he will go and how much he will spend. Crazy? You bet. He buys only "specials." Right now our storeroom is jammed with 24 cent tomatoes and 19 cent beans. When we go shopping together it's murder. I can stand on my head and if the item I want isn't on sale, he won't buy it. When there's a special on meat he tries to corner the market. Our freezer can't hold another lamb shank. The fact tht nobody in the family likes lamb doesn't mean a thing to him.

What he saves on groceries he spends on gasoline, but he doesn't see this. Yesterday he drove 19 miles to save 11 cents on a broom. He bought four brooms and figured he had saved 44 cents. When I told him the broom we have is like new, and that I rarely use it because I mostly vacuum and use a damp mop, he accused me of trying to spoil his fun. What can I do with a man like that? We've been married 37 years. --- Mrs. Bargain Hunter

Dear Mrs. Hunter: Bargain-shopping is a darn good hobby these days -- but your character is hopped on pinching pennies and it sounds as if this is his principal source of kicks. Along with the lamb shanks in his freezer, the guy's got some hornets in his helmet. The game he plays is nutty but it's relatively harmless. For get it.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what to do about the following invitation. It came from both the friend who is giving the baby shower and the girl for whom the shower is being given.

"Dear ---------:

You are invited to a shower. Please follow instructions because duplication of items means money wasted. We would like you to bring three or more five-month size shirts with short sleeves and buttons. Also, diaper pins with metal heads that lock. (IMPORTANT: GET EXACTLY THE KIND DESCRIBED OR NONE AT ALL.)

If you can afford more than suggested, buy soft toys. Absolutely NO diapers or knitted sets, PLEASE."

What do you think of this invitation, Ann I'm --- In a Quandry

Dear Quan: I think if you bring diapers or a knitted set, the hostess might hit you. She sounds as if she means business.

My advice is to disregard the "invoice" and bring what you please. Or check the movies in town and see a good flick instead.

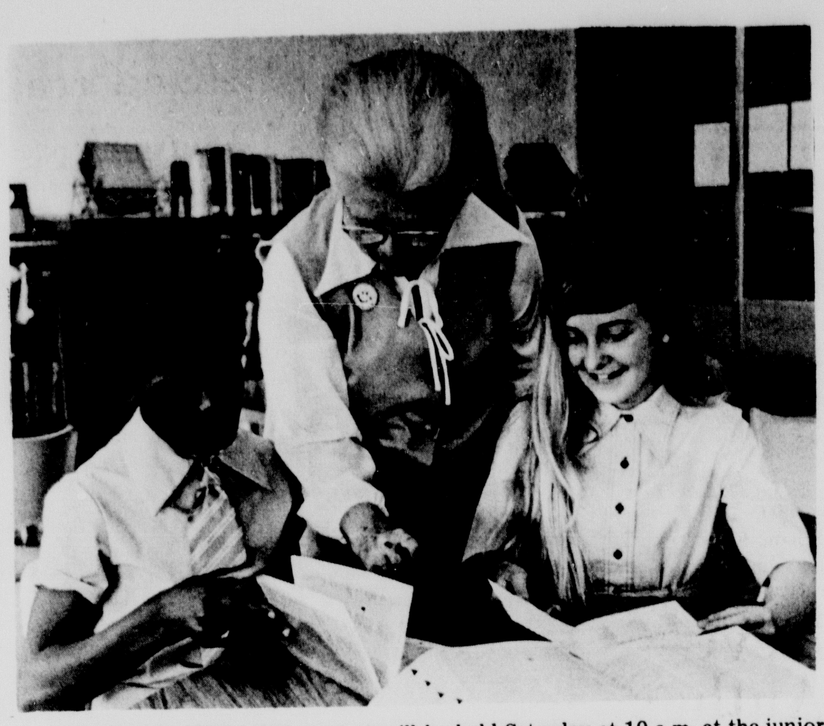

Dear Ann Landers: What can we do about friends who monopolize every conversation with the following topics: their trip to Europe, their new car, their new home, their son's honors, their daughter's popularity, the evening spent at the home of the Company President. They bla bla bla bla ... rattle rattle ... talk talk ... bragg brag.

My husband and I are so sick of these egomaniacs we hate to see them coming. But we've been friends for so many years it would be impossible to stop seeing them. They didn't used to be this way. It happened when they came into a little money.

Any advice will be appreciated. After an evening with them my husband and I have to take something for indigestion, and I am not kidding. --- Rope's End.

Dear Rope's: Life is too short to spend evenings with people who make you sick. And these people do -- figuratively and literally. Time enhances good friendships and diminishes others. When you reach the point of no return, write it off.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking And Petting -- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers i care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A DISTRICT SPELLING contest will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the junior high school with students from six Illinois counties and six Missouri counties participating. Representing Sikeston will be, from left, Barbara Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vaughn, first place winner at the junior high school; Mrs. Helen Marshall, teacher and spelling instructor and Shavonna Marcus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marcus, the second place winner.

Open House Planned Sunday For Shady Acres Childrens Home

Open house will be Sunday between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. at the Shady Acres Church of Christ Childrens Home on Oklahoma Street.

The six-bedroom home was started April 4, 1971 and is built to house a maximum of 10 children. The church is working with the welfare department and as soon as house parents are chosen foster children will be placed in the home.

The home cost approximately $30,000. Church members donated their labor and time and supplies were bought at cost.

On the board of directors are Ferrell Kellett, Howard Woodall, Raymond Blackwelder, John Woodard, Larry Kellett and Wendell Pearson. E. A. Hanks, one of the original directors, will be the superintendent of the home.

Women Advised To Learn About Social Security, Insurance

What is the most basic money problem that causes people to buy life insurance?

This was one of the questions asked by Kent Melton, assistant manager of the Traveler's Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, Thursday at the second Women's Finance Forum sponsored by First National Bank at the Ramada Inn.

Most people buy life insurance to replace their earning ability when it is destroyed, Melton said.

"A person's earning ability, the ability to get up and go to work every day, is worth far more than any other asset that he may own," Melton said.

Earning ability is destroyed by premature death, disability and old age. Social Security does the same thing as life insurance for less money, Melton said, but not everyone is aware of Social Security benefits.

He tried to raise questions in the minds of the women so that they would get out their life insurance policies and their husband's and check Social Security benefits in case they should need it.

Statistics show that women who receive life insurance in a lump sum will spend it in five years, no matter how large the amount. They anticipate it will last for a longer time, but many women have never handled such a large amount of money and cannot do it wisely.

"When a widow receives a large sum of money every one near her tries to become an advisor. She should rely on people whose profession can give her the best advice, such as her banker, attorney, insurance agent or accountant," Melton advised.

There are two main types of life insurance, term, which supplies the greatest amount of money when it is needed and decreases as the person gets older and the need for earning ability is not as great; permanent life insurance has a savings feature for later years.

"What kind of life insurance policy is best?

Melton said that there are so many variables which depend upon what a person wants his life insurance policy to do. "For example," he explained "a retirement income policy, may not be best to educate the children or pay off the mortgage."

Elmer Morice of the estate planning department of the St. Louis Union Trust Company will speak Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn on wills and estates.

Revival Minister Author Of 2 Books

DEXTER — The Rev. Warren C. Hamby has been described as "displaying an unusual gift in being a part of that small number of people who can both speak and write brilliantly," by W. Kenneth Bishop, in the introduction of the Rev. Hamby's book, "Winds of Change."

The Rev. Mr. Hamby is leading revival services this week at Dexter United Methodist Church and serves a congregation of 2,000 as senior minister of the Huffman United Methodist Church in Birmingham. He is a member of the North Alabama Conference of the United Methodist Church and has held pastoraes in Huntsville, Ala., and Jackson, Miss., the largest Methodist church in the state.

He was ordained a deacon in 1950 and an elder in 1952.

The Rev. Mr. Hamby, son of a Methodist minister, is author of another book, "Eight Keys to Happiness.

"Eight Keys to Happiness" has been described by ministers as one of the best books written on the Beatitudes. The book deals with problems of 20th century man.

"Winds of Change," a study of the book of Jeremiah, compares the ancient prophet and man's search today for peace and stability.

The Rev. Mr. Hamby and wife, Mary Farr, have four children, Warren Jr., 23; Barbara, 21, Jan, 16; and Mike, 15.

Revival Will Come

WHEN the thorn tree of strife is rooted from the heart.

WHEN apologies are made for unkind, nasty words, and grievances adjusted in a manner pleasing to God.

WHEN the dead atmosphere of indifference, indolence and lukewarmness is dispelled by a fresh anointing of the Holy Spirit.

WHEN there are long vigils of prayer in which the soul is laid bare before God in humiliation and contrition.

WHEN the killing frost of smug complacency is confessed and renounced. (Amos 6:1-7; Rev. 3:14-22).

WHEN prayer, Bible study, and meditation is practiced in the individual life.

WHEN faith takes hold of God's promises and resists every attack and accusation of Satan.

WHEN personal testimony is warm and buttressed by a holy life.

WHEN we attempt great things for God and expect great things from God.

WHEN Christian people are willing to face opposition, ridicule, persecution, hate, suffering and shame for Jesus' sake—rather than compromise their convictions or soften their witness against sin.

THEN the revival will come—in supernatural power!

SCRIPTURE: Mark 5:1-20; Acts 8:4-40; 18:24-28

THE WITNESSING FELLOWSHIP

Many ways exist in our present society to spread the news. Some persons turn to their newspapers and magazines, others to the radio and television stations for their information.

Without such communication sources the early followers of Christ found it necessary to spread His message through witnesses. Several examples are reviewed in today's Scripture readings.

Members of the Christian fellowship witness in their daily relationships through their style of living. Mark offered this advice when he wrote, "Go home to your friends and tell them how much the Lord has done for you, and how He has had mercy on you."

Who are the witnesses in your church today? Where do they acquire the information needed to witness for Christ? To what do they witness? For some guidelines we turn to the Scriptures.

Jesus told His followers to go out and tell what the Lord had done for them. Philip, a Greek, went to Samaria to tell the Samaritans more about Jesus, to proclaim Him as the triumphant Messiah through whom God acted to offer man salvation.

Philip was a success. The people believed him and they were baptized. Simon so believed him that he joined Philip in his mission. The excitement reached Peter and John who went to see the Samaritans and "laid their hands on them and they received the Holy Spirit." Simon became so excited over this incident that he offered Peter and John money for the power to hand out the Holy Spirit.

"God's gift was not for sale," Simon was told. He repented, wept, and prayed for forgiveness for his wicked thought. The example is significant; God's gift is still not for sale. It can be acquired through witnessing for Him.

Philip performed another ceremony to witness Christ when he baptized an eunuch. First Philip assisted the man in his reading of Isaiah; then he told him more about the good news of Jesus.

Another witness was Apollos, an Alexandrian by birth, who became well read in the Old Testament. He knew some facts about Jesus yet he was not fully informed of His role.

Several friends of Paul, including Priscilla and Aquila, recognized the potential role Apollos could play in witnessing for Christ. They instructed him in the "way of God more accurately." Eager to learn, the Greek continued his study and became a disciple of Paul.

Jesus said "All things are possible to him that believeth." So it was with these individuals who witnessed for Christ, each in his own way.

The importance of verbal witness to those about us cannot be overplayed. There are risks involved in witnessing, yet these will never discourage the faithful.

Persons respond to sincere witnessing. Examples are plentiful in our publications. Guideposts is a monthly guide to successful living based on examples of those who have witnessed for Christ.

Abraham Lincoln once said, "I can see how it might be possible for a man to look down upon the earth and be an atheist, but I cannot conceive how he could look up into the Heavens and say there is no God."

Jesus told his followers to witness to others what they had experienced. The early church leaders, scattered about in many communities, had many opportunities to witness.

Age is no barrier. The youngest and oldest can witness their faith in God's teachings.

A 60-SEAT SCHOOL BUS, recently purchased from the Twin Rivers school district, is receiving extensive use at First Church of the Nazarene, Scott and Trotter streets. Cleaned, painted, repaired and in service for five Sundays, the bus is used primarily to bring children to Sunday School. The church is now in the process of purchasing two more buses.

Giusti Features Palm Ball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates needed a hand in the ninth inning and settled for Dave Giusti's palm.

"I went to the palm ball and it worked," Pittsburgh's top reliever said after bailing the Pirates out a late jam to preserve a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday night.

Giusti reached back for his Sunday pitch after the Cubs had scored two runs with none out and had a man on second.

He coaxed Art Shamsky to foul out, then got Rick Monday and Bill North on strikeouts.

"I figured they had never seen the palm ball," said Giusti, referring to National League newcomers Monday and North. "I used them on Monday to set him up and struck him out on a fastball. Then I used the palm ball all the way with North."

The hot Los Angeles Dodgers walloped the Atlanta Braves 111 and the San Francisco Giants beat the San Diego Padres 2-1 in the National League's other games Thursday.

The Baltimore Orioles nipped the Detroit Tigers 1-0 in the American League's only game. Rain washed out the game between Milwaukee and New York.

Pittsburgh took a comfortable 7-3 lead into the ninth inning on the combined pitching efforts of Dock Ellis and Luke Walker. But Walker issued free passes to the first two batters in the last inning and then gave up a two-run double to Don Kessinger.

Giusti replaced Walker at this juncture and squirmed out of hot water.

Manny Sanguillen drove in two early runs for the Pirates and they scored three more runs in a seventh-inning rally highlighted by Willie Stargell's first home run of the season. Ron Santo crashed a two-run homer for Chicago in the sixth.

The Dodgers continued their assault on Atlanta's beleagured pitching staff, scoring six runs in the second inning on seven straight singles. A total of 18 hits in Thursday night's game at Atlanta Stadium gave the Dodgers 50 for their four-game sweep of the Braves. They scored 26 runs.

Bobby Bonds singled home the second of two San Francisco runs in the fifth inning and the Giants held on to beat San Diego. Sam McDowell pitched the first five innings for the Giants and gained his second National League victory with relief help from Jim Barr and Jerry Johnson.

Loser Steve Arlin had a nohitter going until Chris Speier opened the fifth inning with an infield hit to trigger the Giants' two-run rally.

FLOYD CRAVENS, Parma, shows off more than 21 pounds of catfish he hooked at a lake near Parma. The biggest catch was a six and one half pounder.

Missouri U. Athletic Director Dead At 62

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup, 62, athletic director at the University of Missouri and coach of basketball at MU from 1946-61, died early today in Boone County Hospital.

Stalcup had been hospitalized since April 9 when he suffered an apparent heart attack. He was moved from intensive care only this week and, authorities said, suffered another apparent attack Thursday afternoon.

A three-sport star at Northwest Missouri State College, Stalcup was named to a number of all-star basketball teams while playing under Coach Henry Iba at Maryville.

After graduation he began his coaching career at Jackson, Mo., high school. The following year he took over the basketball reins at Maryville succeeding Iba who moved to Colorado.

At Maryville he compiled a record of 162 victories against 55 losses. During his 16 years at the helm of the Missouri Tigers, Stalcup teams won 195 games while losing 179.

Stalcup retired in 1962 to become top administrative assistant to former athletic director Don Faurot and later to Dan Devine. He was named to succeed Devine in February of 1971 when Devine left to become coach of the professional football Green Bay Packers.

A former president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, Stalcup also was a member of the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame.

A native of Forbes, Mo., a rural community near Holt about 25 miles north of Kansas City, Stalcup's voice became well known to Missouri football fans as he broadcast color on the games for many years.

Survivors include the widow, Isabel, a daughter, Mrs. Susan Gray of Columbia, two granddaughters, and a brother and sister.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Rain Halts Sports

Weather has halted high school sports with rain forcing the cancellation of Sikeston High School golf and tennis matches and three area baseball games that were scheduled originally for Thursday afternoon.

The Sikeston High School tennis match at Caruthersville has been rescheduled for Monday. The SHS golfers also were slated to compete at Caruthersville and have reset the date for this afternoon.

In area baseball, the games of Bernie at Campbell, Advance at Woodland, and Lilbourn at Hayti were cancelled because of the weather. No definite plans have been made for rescheduling them.

Cage Playoffs Resume Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — New York struck out on Boston's fast ball, and if the Knicks want to stay in the game they're going to have to go slow.

Player-philosopher Bill Bradley was analyzing the sticky status of the National Basketball Association semifinal series which the Celtics could tie tonight if the Knicks fall into their trap again.

The Knicks, who took command of the best-of-seven series 2-0 by setting their own pace, lost game No. 3 because they ran to the Celtics' rhythm.

"They were able to up the tempo of the game," said Bradley. "We were able to keep up with them in the third quarter, but then they started hitting and we started missing."

STOLEN MERCHANDISE

Mel Daniels of the Indiana Pacers is still trying to recover a truckload of possessions stolen from his home last summer while he was touring in Vietnam. When he returned home he found a gun collection, his ABA championship ring, his first All-Star ring, an All-Star watch, 18 other watches, six other rings, three pair of All-Star cuff links, three chain bracelets and two of his wife's fur coats missing.

Girls File Suit Against League

BOSTON — Three preteen Newton girls have gone into U.S. District Court seeking the right to play baseball in the all-male Little League.

Lawyers for the girls asked Judge Frank J. Myrray Wednesday for a temporary restraining order to halt Little League play until the suit was heard. Judge Murray denied the motion and assigned the case to Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr.

No date was set for a hearing.

Ann Bond, 10, spokesman for the plaintiffs, said in an interview that league officials told her she couldn't play "because boys don't like to play with girls at that age."

"But I want to play in some organized league," she said. "I don't really care if I play with boys or not. Boys are people just like anybody else, and I'll play with anybody."

"Boys are okay," she added. "Some of them, anyway."

Ann said she has played quite a bit of baseball in pickup games with boys, alternating between first base and outfield, like the Red Sox Carl Yastrzemski. She bats .333 better than Yaz, although most of her hits are singles.

The other plaintiffs are Cynthia Wachs, 10, and Linda Speizer, 9.

Cynthia, a catcher, also bats about .333. Linda, also a catcher, has played in only one game with boys. She collected two singles in four trips.

"Most of the time I just play catch with my father," she said.

The girls' suit charged sex discrimination and contended the Little League rules make girls feel inferior to boys.

The suit said the league's practice also victimizes boys because they are taught they are superior to girls and are "the dominant member of the human species."

Turkey Season Begins Monday

JEFFERSON CITY — An estimated 15,000 turkey hunters will be taking advantage of the longest season in modern times between April 24- May 7.

Hunters will be after bearded birds -- the beard is a tuft of bristles which projects from a turkey's breast. Normally, only a gobbler has a beard, but a few hens do.

Ther will be 53 open counties, including nine for the first time -- Lewis, Clark, Pike, Lincoln, St. Charles, Polk, Webster, Ripley and Livingston.

Other open counties include Adair, Barry, Benton, Bollinger, Butler, Callaway, Camden, Carter, Cedar, Crawford, Dent, Douglas, Franklin, Gasconade, Hickory, Howell, Iron, Jefferson, Madison, McDonald, Maries, Miller, Monroe, Montgomery, Morgan, New Madrid, Oregon, Osage, Ozark, Perry, Phelps, Pulaski, Reynolds, Shannon, St. Clair, Ste. Genevieve, St. Francois, Stone, Sullivan, Taney, Texas, Warren, Washington and Wayne.

Hunting hours are from 5 a.m. to noon, Central Standard Time. Daylight Saving Time goes into effect April 30, but hunting hours remain on standard time.

All turkeys taken must be tagged, either with a $7.80 resident turkey tag or with a home- made tag in the case of farmers hunting on the land where they reside. Non-resident turkey permits cost $30.30.

All turkeys must be checked between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. on the day they are taken, either in the county where taken or in an adjoining county which has a check station.

Missouri's wild turkey restoration program has been one of unrestrained success. In the 1930s, there were estimated less than 4,000 birds in the entire state, the population of the birds continues to expand rapidly.

There are nine "walk-in" hunting areas this year where road access will be closed. Turkey hunting is a solitary sport which is ruined by numbers and state and federal agencies have cooperated in setting up these areas to give a quality hunting experience to the hunter who tries harder.

The areas are Bell Mountain, Peter Cave Hollow, Ketcherside Mountain and Crane Pond, all in Iron County; Silver Mines in Madison County; Scotia- Marcoot in Dent and Reynolds Counties; Natural Bridge in Phelps County; Warren Valley in Reynolds county, and Steam Mill Hollow in Howell County. Maps are available from U.S. Forest Service district headquarters listed on the turkey leaflet which is available where turkey tags are sold.

The 1971 season saw both a record number of modern times hunters (12,306) and a new state record weight bird, 33 pounds, 13 ounces, taken by Bob Stephens of Salem in Dent County.

One of the original 14 counties which were open for hunting in the first modern season in 1960, Ste. Genevieve, was the leading county for the third straight year.

Hunter success last year was 23 percent, compared to 16.3 in 1970 and 12.7 in 1969. Best previous year was in 1963 with 18.1 percent.

BUCKS BOMBARD

The Milwaukee Bucks ran up 156 points against the Philadelphia 76ers in a 1970 playoff game to set the NBA record for highest score by one team in a playoff game.

MAGIC POTION

Rugged tight end Charlie Sanders of the Detroit Lions has a special recipe for lifting himself out of the doldrums: "Start with a couple of raw eggs. Then, add some honey, a bunch of bananas, some Karo syrup, some malted milk, some dry milk, some regular milk, and a couple of scoops of ice cream. Throw it all in a blender and goosh it up real good. Then, drink it." Sanders says he drinks two quarts of the stuff a day.

River Raps At Doors In Commerce

50 years ago
April 21, 1922

Chaffee - Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Ashley visited at Jackson the weekend.

Commerce -- The river is the news of the week in and about Commerce. It is an adventure to get into a rowboat from your own front step -- if the front step is of wood, it has been washed away. And it is a spectacular scene that meets the eye from the hills above the village. Big Island and Burnham's can be located by the trees only; the same can be said of miles of mainland, toward the Benton road and Sandywoods district.

Matthews -- Miss Ruby Byrd shopped in Sikeston Saturday.

Several friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. L. Matthews surprised them Tuesday evening. A very enjoyable time was held by those present. Bridge was the entertainment for the evening.

Morley -- Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mize of Sikeston moved to the Aunt Mollie Congleton home last week.

Route One - Paul Witt made a buisness trip to Oran Sunday.

Matthews -- Granville Mainord of New Madrid was a Matthews visitor Tuesday.

Fire of undetermined origin early Tuesday destroyed the main building of the Meyer Brothers Gin plant here, with an estimated loss of $6,500 to $10,000. The fire started inside of the large sheet iron building, on the second floor.

George Page, farmer resident of the Crowder neighborhood, about three miles northwest of McMullin, worked all day Tuesday laying off watermelon rows. When evening came he loaded his plow on a farm wagon and started to drive home. Neighbors happened to notice the team trotting more or less aimlessly towards the Page residence, and went to investigate. They found the aged farmer suffering from an attack of apoplexy of which he died.

W.N. Parsons of Rainer, Ore., visiting in Sikeston since last Monday, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stokes Thursday morning. He had come to this city, he told former school mates, to see about the estate of his cousin, the late Martha Martin.

Mrs. Nathan Yoffee left Wednesday for Savannah, Ga., in response to a message that her mother, Mrs. Ida Nathan, was critically ill at the home of another daughter, Mrs. S.G. Bodziner in that city.

Wade Shankle, former commander of Co. C. of the National Guard, who left Sikeston with the unit early in 1941, has been promoted from captain to major.

Hospital news. A daughter was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Diebold of Portageville. She has been named Celeste.

Bertrand -- Mr. and Mrs. R.M. McKinney were called to Sikeston Tuesday, to be with their son, Lindell, who was seriously hurt in a car wreck earlier during the day.

J.M. Pitman, who suffered throat hemorrhages last week, has been confined to his home since.

Mrs. G.R. Harper returned Saturday from Edinburg, Tex., where she spent the winter at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Bloomfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neiderstadt of Matthews are parents of a daughter born on the 19th at the Delta Community Hospital.

Patricia Ann is the name selected for the new baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vernon Britt, born on the 14th. The new baby is the first child of the Britts. Mrs. Britts is the former Miss Viola Burns of Sikeston.

East Prairie - Mrs. Maud Gilmore of Charleston was a Sunday guest of relatives and friends at East Prairie.

Services for Charlie Crawford, 68, Thayer, Mo., brother of Jim Crawford of Sikeston, were yesterday.

Three Sikeston high trackmen and one from Matthews have hung up high ranking performances in their events, according to a list of state marks compiled by the State HIgh School Activities Association. Up to April 12, Walter Bizzell's 53.4 seconds for the 440 yard dash was the best time in the state. One the same report, Tommy Dunaway's broad jump of 21 feet was also on top. Pat Nickens of the Bulldogs and Jim Burchfield of Matthews ranked four and five in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Services for Miss Queen Florence Harris, 77, a resident of this vicinity for the past 16 years, who died at a brother's home near Essex Saturday, were held today.

Wage Ruling Affects A&P Meat Cutters

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) -- A federal judge ruled in favor of the government Wednesday in what was described as the nation's first case testing the wage portion of the Phase 2 wage- price guidelines.

Judge C. Stanley Blair upheld the government in its suit which sought an injunction to bar A&P food stores from paying 77 union meat cutters wage increases of between 15 and 22 per cent.

U.S. Atty George Beail, who filed the suit for the government Feb. 24, said it was the first action on wages.

Blair said he would sign an injunction preventing A&P from paying, or Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union Local 117 from receiving, a wage increase negotiated after an eight - day strike last year.

A&P and the union also were fined $2,500 in a civil penalty imposed by Blair.

What's The Law

Trial Fair Even If Kidnap Involved

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Benny chose a life of crime primarily because the hours were optional. What weren't optional, however, were the severe penalties if caught. After pulling off several financially successful capers, Benny decided to take off for Chile until things cooled down.

Midway to his destination, however, two detectives, who had been working on the capers, caught up with him and spirited him back to the state where he committed his crimes. And in due course he was convicted on all charges. Nevertheless, Benny demanded his immediate release.

"The trial was illegal, unconstitutional and unsportsmanlike," he insisted. "I was kidnapped by those two detectives and brought back against my will. It was a plain case of abduction."

"How we got Benny back is unimportant," retorted the prosecuting attorney, " and has no bearing upon his conviction. The only question is, did he get a fair trial? And the answer to that is it couldn't have been any fairer had it been presided over by Little Orphan Annie."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you set Benny free because of is abduction.

This is how the judge ruled: NO! he judge held that the power of a court to try a person for a crime is not impaired by the fact that he may have been brought within the court's jurisdiction by reason of forcible abuction. All that is required is that he be given a fair trial. (Based upon a 1952 United States Supreme Court Decision.

Personalized Tags Added To Auto Title Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) -- The Missouri House of Representatives added a personalized license plate section to a routine bill on automobile title transfers Wednesday and sent it back to the Senate.

For $12 extra any Missouri automobile owner could have his own personalized license plate so long as it is not obscene. Disabled war veterans would get the special plates free. Sponsors said there are about 41,300 Missourians who are totally disabled war veterans.

Dear Editor:

The schoolteachers' lobby, National Education Association, is promoting a national campaign to escalate Federal Aid for Education from a current $3.3 Billion annually to $15 Billion. The Association expects to accomplish this by electing Congressmen and endorsing a President. Since the funds for this purpose must be borrowed, the result will be a further increase in taxes and added fuel for inflation.

The NEA is a strong advocate of busing, "Humanism" (an anti- God religion) and strong Federal control over public schools.

Parent- Teacher Associations, please take notice. This questionable, expensive program is being financed with YOUR dollars.

To the Editor
Sikeston Standard

Dear Editor:

"President Nixon is the greatest war criminal in history". That statement was recently said by Ly Van Sau, the chief Viet Cong press spokesman. He said it after Pres. Nixon unleashed full scale bombing on North Vietnam. But what this man failed to say was that he (or the Communists) had prompted Nixon to bomb N. Vietnam because of the offensive initiated by the Communists. It is doubtless in my mind that Pres. Nixon plans on withdrawing more men from Vietnam, because of promises he has made and the up coming election. But he would be a fool if he were to allow the Communists to go scott free in their attempts to force a way of government on a free people.

Hopefully the South Vietnamese will be able to stand up and defend themselves, something, they could not have been able to do if our troops would have been withdrawn earlier.

the lab technicians must develop their expretise in each area, and drug identifcation is the easiest to begin with.

Drug cases still make up over 70 per cent of the work load but this will soon drop as the lab branches out, he said.

Other areas in which the lab works incude alcohol content analysis, blood alchhol analysis, and blood stain typing. Other things besides blood that can be typed include seman, saliva, ear wax, nasal drippings, and hair. The lab technicians have the expertise to work in these areas Brinner said.

Briner said he would like to see the lab begin working on fingerprints, ballistics and tool mark comparisons. He said someday he would like to see the lab working on foreries and questioned documents. At present there isn't much demand for these services.

Briner said the lab has become increasingly important because of recent supreme court rulings. It is almost impossible today to go to court without labortory analysis of the evidence, he added.

This makes the collection of evidence essential. The decision an officer makes in the first five or 10 minutes after arriving at the scene of a crime, will often affect whether the prosecutor has a case, Briner said.

Evidence should be placed in sealed glass containers to prevent loss, he said, and if being sent to the crime lab, the evidence should be either sent by registered mail or delivery by hand.

The peace Officers Association will meet July 20 in Benton.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Drugs-for-play scandal rocks record industry; marijuana, cocaine, LSD help bribe radio men; record industry exec demands a fast crackdown

Young And Duke On Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. stepped onto a rocky plateau today to begin man's first exploration in the mountains of the moon.

Young's footfall, the ninth human imprint in the ancient lunar dust, was recorded at 11:56 a.m. EST. Duke followed him down the ladder of the landing ship Orion five minutes later.

"Here you are mysterious and unknown Descartes, highland plains," Young said as he touched the surface. "Apollo 16 is going to change your image."

The explorers hope in this mountainous Descartes region to find evidence that volcanoes once erupted beneath the lunar surface, sculpturing mountains, canyons and plains in the formative period more than four billion years ago.

An antenna problem on Orion prevented a television camera from relaying pictures of their first steps on the moon as was the case on previous lunar landings.

The astronauts were to erect their own portable antenna on the surface to make later television possible.

Young and Duke, who almost had their landing cancelled Thursday when astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly had trouble with the command ship Casper, were awestruck by the landscape of mountains, craters and desolate desert-like terrain.

"It's absolutely beautiful!" Duke exclaimed. "There are rocks all over the place."

"Fantastic, super!" Young said.

"There's a big hole over there. I never saw such a big hole," the Apollo 16 commander commented. "It's probably 10 meters deep."

He said the landing site was smooth and couldn't have been better.

"Anyplace else around here and we'd have landed on a great big slope," he said.

The explorers, eager to get started today, quickly ran through their suitup and checklists and moved outside ahead of schedule.

They depressurized the cabin so that it matched the outside vacuum and after checking with Mission Control, Young said: "Okay, let's go."

As the Apollo 16 commander stood on the hatch stoop, he exclaimed: "My golly, how beautiful! There is a big boulder!"

Regional Bid For Industry Begins

MALDEN — Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, announced last night the formation of a regional industrial development committee with Marion Waggener, Charleston, as Chairman during the commission's meeting.

Lea said that on a regional basis no individual devotes full time to promoting industry for the Bootheel's approximately 10,000 acres of industrial park land, which represents a $20,000,000 investment. Lea said he hopes to employ a full-time industrial person around July 1.

Waggener said that he felt that such a program had merit especially since no town or county had the financial capability for a development program.

The commission for three years has assembled community profile data on the 55 towns in the area. It has completed a population economic study and an optimum growth industry study.

Lea said a meeting was held in New Madrid with leaders interested in industrial development throughout the six-county area. It was the concensus that a regional industrial development program would be an asset.

Waggener said that an application for monies to the state government has been submitted and approval is expected soon.

Lea announced members of the committee:

Judge D[illegible]deth, Jr., of Car[illegible]ville, Mayor Harry B. Dowdy, Hayti; Layton Pickard, Charleston; Sam Hunter, New Madrid; Richard T. Reed, East Prairie;

Mayor Randall Ramsey, Parma; Mayor Sparrel W. Davis, Malden; Mayor William Inman, Caruthersville; Charles Royal, Malden;

Richard Martin, City Manager, Charleston; Mayor Lloyd Hogan, East Prairie; Dr. Harry Goddard, Mayor, Kennett;

George Storey, East Prairie; John Hall Dalton, Kennett; Pat Lea; Mayor Lloyd Booker, Steele; Lewis Jones, Dexter;

Duane Michie, Hayti; Mayor Frank Ferrell, Sikeston; R. J. Dirks, Malden; L. F. Wheeler, Route 2, Sikeston; Judge John Calvin, New Madrid; Judge Lefler Lee, Star Route, Dexter.

No Waste, Says Crime Lab Director

Reports that federal funds earmarked for crime control are being wasted or not even spent are not valid for Missouri, Robert Briner, director of the Law Enforcement Assistance Council Crime Laboratory in Cape Girardeau said yesterday.

Briner spoke to the Southeast Missouri Peace Officers Association meeting at the American Legion Hall.

According to press reports, Briner said, about 25 per cent of the funds designated for law enforcements agencies under the 1968 Safe Streets Act, have not been spent.

This is not true in Missouri, Briner said. The state has used the money wisely, allocating it to all regions, he added.

One of the agencies financed through the act is the crime lab on the campus of Southeast Missouri State College.

Before 1968, when the Laboratory was founded, rural law agencies had to send evidence to Jefferson City for analysis, Briner said. The lab could not keep pace with the mounting demand for services.

The lab began its career as a drug identification center; a good idea, Briner said, since

Choice For Manager Narrows

Applications for the city manager's post have been narrowed to three but the decision on who will be chosen is still over a month away, Mayor Frank Ferrell said yesterday.

Ferrell said that city officials have talked to two of the men. The third will be interviewed soon.

"As long as we have a good man filling in," Ferrell said of acting city manager Bill Whitlock, "we can afford to take our time." He said the city would rather spend the extra time reviewing the applicants and making sure of the right man rather than make a bad choice.

The city is replacing Raymert Miller, who resigned as city manager in February after 11 years in the office. He left to join a construction firm.

Fisk Bridge Reopened

The St. Francis River bridge on Route 60 at Fisk, which was damaged when a truck struck it April 7, and closed to traffic, was reopened at 10 a.m. today.

Repair work has not been completed but will be continued under traffic. Traffic on the bridge will be restricted to one-way during week days while repair work is completed. Two to three weeks will be required for completion of the work.

Flagmen will be positioned on each end during periods of one- way traffic and motorists are asked by highway officials to exercise caution when approaching or crossing the bridge.

J. DELBERT WELLS, Jefferson City, and Lonnie Kinchen, president, Bank of Kennett, were speakers at Thursday's meeting of Missouri Chamber of Commerce representatives and Southeast Missouri agribusinessmen at the Ramada Inn.

Scott, representatives of the state Chamber of Commerce in Jefferson City. Lonnie L. Kinchen, president of the Bank of Kennett, presided.

In a letter to General Chairman Don Fulton, Miller said he would be "willing to assist the corporation in any manner possible." He suggested Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock be appointed to fill the vacancy.

U.S. Strikes North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers and fighter-bombers struck deep into North Vietnam Sunday, attacking supply depoenxtransportation facilities and air depo2ses 80 miles south of Hanoi, the northern capital.

Aground, North Vietnamese troops launched furious attacks around An Loc and knocked a South Vietnamese battalion out of action near that district capital 60 miles north of Saigon.

An Air Force F4 Phantom jet was shot down 42 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa. The two crewmen baowo out over the Gulf of Tonkin and were rescued by helicopter, the Command reported. zanub5The raids were the deepest since heavy strikes last Sunday near Hanoi and the nearby port of Haiphong. Two Bills To Hearnes

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House sent to the governor today a

2ng- to authorize certain counties to set up solid waste disposal systems and one to license boarding homes for the elderly.

The solid waste bill would authorize second, third and fourth class counties to levy a tax up to 10 cents—if approved by the voters—to fund disposal facilities. It would not apply to cities already having their own disposal systems. It was passed 140-1.

The House accepted Senate changes in a measure to make licensing of boarding homes mandatory although the sponsor said the changes pulled the teeth from his original bill.

Rep. Charles Dickey, D-Mexico, told the House he hopes to phase in a stringent program of regulation for so-called "bootleg boarding homes" next session. The bill passed 123-16.

Also sent to the governor was a bill designed to encourage wild-cat drilling for oil and gas.

The House continued to work on bills through early afternoon then planned to recess until 3 p.m. Saturday.

Majority Floor Leader Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, said the House must stand by waiting for action from a Senate-House conference committee on appropriation bills to run state government next year.

THE HAPPINESS OF WOMANHOOD

An organization has sprung up in Kingman, Arizona, that is called Happiness of Womanhood. It is dedicated to the preservation of the family, that is, preservation of the masculine role of guide, protector and provider, and the feminine role of wife, mother and homemaker.

It seeks to achieve a membership of 10 million. to "insure respect for God's divine plan, the family structure," to "remove Communist and Socialist teachings from our schools," to "remove Women's Liberation movement teachings from our schools," to "teach our young daughters the joys of womanhood." to "preserve femininity" and "resore morality," to "eliminate drug abuse, return to patriotism" and "elect to governmental office men or women who are dedicated to God," the family and the nation.

It has a League of Housewives who promise "never again to say, "I am JUST a housewife,' " or to accept mail addressed to Ms., or to subscribed to "so-called women's magazines that are promoting the Women's Liberation movement." Instead they promise to "practice the art of Femininity and make my husband aware at all times that I am a woman," and "to do all I can to dispel the idea that HOUSEWIVES are frumpy." Their pledge to the men is: "You make the living and we'll make life worth living."

HOW is opposed to the Equal Rights Constitutional Amendment, and expressed outrage that only eight United Senators opposed it. HOW said that the destiny of American women was being determined by Women's Lib, representing 3 per cent of the women of the country. It is now seeking to prevent ratification of the amendment by the required number of States — 38.

SECRETARY'S LIBERATION

Power behind the throne or glorified "go-fer"? Playboy Bunny reject or super-efficient automaton? Surrogate wife and mother or stylish young swinger? Probably no other occupational group has been as stereotyped in the public mind as the secretary. Even the National Secretaries Association, which objects strenuously to these popular images, has indulged in a few of its own. The 28,000-member organization is sponsoring a Secretaries Week beginning on Sunday, April 23, "to bring recognition to professional secretaries for their role as management's right arm in business, industry, education, government and the professions." The Labor Department estimates there are 4,005,000 secretaries, stenographers and typists presently employed in the United States.

At the turn of the century 90 per cent of all secretaries were men. Today the vast majority are women. There are now about 63,000 men in the profession and only 10 of these are members of the National Secretaries Association. With demand far exceeding supply, male secretaries have become a status symbol for the rich, the famous and the powerful. They are often spared much of the common secretarial drudgery, and a Labor Department study revealed that they make nearly 20 per cent more than their female counterparts.

Women's liberationists point to their secretarial sisters as prime examples of sexual discrimination and exploitation. There is increasing evidence that their message is being heard. In February the State Department began a campaign for better treatment for secretaries. In March a number of New York secretaries joined a National Organization for Women picket line of the Olivetti Corporation for what they believe were degrading typewriter advertisements. Today's young graduates are showing far less enthusiasm about enrolling in secretarial school than did their predecessors five or ten years ago. Individual secretaries are airing their grievances in a very un-Katy Gibbs -like way.

Despite the complaints, there is no indication that the supply of secretaries will suddently dry up. Patricia Clark, the private secretary to a corporate vice president, wrote in Dun's (January 1972): "Why do women, like myself, who feel that they are capable of doing more than secretarial work, get themselves enmeshed in that role? They have little choice. The jobs for which I was suitable outside the secretarial field paid about $3,000 a year less -- and they all asked how my typing was anyway. Doing secretarial work for less pay is my idea of real exploitation."

GUNS VS. LIPSTICK

It has been calculated that the total worth of the common stock of the 10 largest companies in the so-called military-industrial complex is about $4.7 billion.

That is less than that of a single cosmetics firm. Avon is rated at about $5.6 billion.

Annual spending on cosmetics exceeds $5 billion a year in the United States, says Patrick Ryan, writing in the Smithsonian, the magazine published by that institution. But rather than join the carpers who point out all the things the nation could buy with that money, Ryan defends the "cosmetological complex."

"We die without dreams," he says.

And anyway, he adds, the face goo, lipstick, miracle potions and whatnot insure that at least half the human landscape is more pleasant to the passing eye than evolution has thus far crudely achieved.

SMUDGEPOT TAHT FLIES

Yet another use has been found for the workhorse of the sky, the helicopter — as a "flying smudgepot," no less.

Using helicopters to blow warm air down on trees to protect them from frost would save money for growers and at the same time reduce air pollution from orchard heaters, says Marvin Miller, an Agriculture Extension citrus expert at the University of California in Riverside.

"For $100 an hour, a helicopter can economically protect about 100 acres," he says.

That may not sound very cheap, but without a helicopter, Miller points out, a grower has to invest perhaps $60,000 in wind machines and pay about $150 in operating costs for the same period on the same number of acres.

HARD TO DO BUSINESS

Ever notice how much business individual citizens must transact with government bodies -- and how difficult it is to do so?

Except for fire departments and police, "servants of the public" enjoy more closed office hours than any other segment of the work-a-day world.

Many government offices are seldom open on the weekend, even on Saturday mornings. A call to anybody in federal offices after 4:30 p.m. weekdays will generally leave you stranded with a telephone operator saying she's sorry, but ... School doors are locked earlier than business closing hours. The list is endless for people wishing to pay taxes, buy a license plate, record deeds, mail a package, seek advice on old age pension, or apply for social security.

Some business can be done by correspondence or phone but within the short and specified hours only.

For some weeks, a Washington, D.C., television station has been waging a lonely campaign to get government agencies to keep office hours that are convenient for the public. A station spokesman pointed out that many agencies for the most part are open for business hours which suit themselves. "The public preferences don't count for much," he said, "which is quite ironic since the public is the employer."

Vaginal sprays may mask odors, but according to increasing reports in medical journals, a number of women are allergic to either the spray or the propellant in the aerosols. Irritations have resulted.

When vaginal odor is pronounced, there is usually an underlying medical condition for which a gynecologist should be consulted. Especially when a discharge is present, the source of the problem may be vaginitis. Once diagnosed, the physician may recommend internal cleansing with an alkaline douche solution such as Trichotine, or he may prescribe specific drugs for the infection, or both. It has been estimated that one-third of all women of childbearing age experience vaginitis at some time.

AMERICAN DREAM FALLACY

Although many picture the Great American Dream as getting away from it all to a quiet little place in the country, University of Wisconsin sociologists don't believe it.

Few people, say James Zuiches and Glenn Fuguitt, are actually moving to isolated rural areas. In fact, they say, the trend is in quite the opposite direction.

Basing their statements on data from the 1970 census and a survey of their home state of Wisconsin, the researchers say that most people actually want to live in small towns or rural areas but within commuting distance of a large central city.

"These results do not mean that rural development should be discouraged," Zuirches says, "but if rural development programs are to succeed, they must take into account the features of life that make small towns and rural areas near metropolitan centers the most preferred residential locations."

Hal Boyle

By MICHAEL C. SINCLAIR
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Looking backward into my childhood becomes more and more difficult as I grow older, as it does for most of us.

But there are those fleeting moments when a familiar sight or sound or smell transports me to yesteryear with a feeling of exhilaration I seldom experience these days.

Such was the case on a recent warm spring afternoon as gusty winds sang through the trees around our house and the clothes on a neighbor's backyard line cracked whiplike in the breezes.

I was looking for some greenish hint of the season among the matted brown grass when from the vacant lot down the street there appeared silhouetted against the fluffy white clouds some brightly colored objects soaring high into the air.

In the few brief moments it took my memory to recall the image of a small boy standing in an open field tugging on a thin white string that trailed off into the sky, my two young sons also noticed the airborne objects.

Off to the corner variety store, where I discovered that the kite—once a 15-cent toy—has changed considerably.

No longer are they made of tissue thin paper and brittle wooden sticks. Today, thanks to modern science, a trash-bagthick film of gaudy plastic is stretched over a frame of pencil-thick plastic rods.

Gone too is the cotton string that often proved no match for the stiff April winds. In its place are balls of stranded nylon twine with labels proudly declaring the product's superior tensile strength.

Most alarming was the inflationary impact on my childhood toy. Once you could buy many afternoons of entertainment and thrills for the better part of a quarter.

Alas, those days are gone forever, and I plunked down $3 to arm my sons with the latest in aerodynamic design, strength and maneuverability.

From the label I learned that strips of multicolored cloth tied painstakingly in streamer fashion as a tail to stabilize the diamond-shaped bird was a thing of the past. The newest models resemble giant hawks in flight and I cringed as one of the boys chose one vividly imprinted with two huge bloodshot eyes that stared down at you from on high.

Despite the changes wrought by times and the economy, I quickly found that becoming a child again is not as difficult as I had thought.

I craned my neck toward the bright sky and tugged with a secret thrill against the string as it slipped through my fingers and arched into the clouds.

Jarred to reality by the ugging at my pants' leg and the whimpering of my youngest offspring, whose string was hopelessly tangled in a nearby tree, I smiled and hugged him as an older and wiser parent had once done with me.

At 30 and growing older, there are few memories that bring the kind of pleasure that a spring wind blows across my mind. But as long as there are kites, spring will always be my favorite time of year.

ONCE UPON A TIME .... there was an ant who worked hard all day in the fields. It was summer and the ant was busy cutting grass and dragging it home. The ant had a grasshopper for a neighbor. The grasshopper sat in the door singing all day. When winter came, the ant had a whole bale of grass, but he had violated the Farm Law for overharvesting grass. He was fined $162.50 and the surplus was seized. The grasshopper received the surplus in exchange for his food stamps.

TRANSPORTATION REVOLU' National Geographic magazine has presented a fascinating pictorial essay on "The COming Revolution in Transportation." Among the transport developments it illustrates and describes are gigantic hovercraft ferries and hydrofoils. Pictured also is the latest generation of jet aircraft and high - speed trains.

The problems of modern transportation are also touched upon and oddly enough these are more administrative in nature than technical. Topping the list of problems is that of meshing into a coordinated whole the several transportation modes. As Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe puts it: "What we need most is a coordinated policy -- a balanced transportation plan that can bring this Nation efficient, economical, safe ways of traveling." Significantly, the railroad industry, an old hand at transporting people and goods, long ago recognized this very need. Only recently, the president of the Assoc. of American Railroads expressed the need in this way: "people informed on transportation matters are becoming increasingly aware of the need for transportation which combines the services of the several modes of transport into a one-package service." COntinuing, he said whether it's called diversification or common ownership, "we're talking about a single agency that can move goods by air, rail, road or water, or any combination of these, in the best interests of all parties involved."

The rails have been seeking legal freedom to own and operate other modes of transport. The sooner they are granted this freedom, the sooner we will have a balanced transportation system to go with the technological developments National Geographic magazine presents so dramatically.

ALL THE DEMOCRATS WANT JOBS

With a possible half dozen or more announcing or indicating they will announce for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket, the New Year comes in with the indication the national field may look something like that in the Democratic race for nomination for Governor of Missouri. In both races for nomination it appears we may be fielding a full baseball team or a football squad.

Now, if the people were allowed to vote on those nominations at the national as well as the state level, a lot of people would be happier and feel they'd have a chance to vote for their favorite instead of having the candidate chosen by a small group of men and women, then saying to us: "Here he is, whether or not you like him."——Paris Appeal.

WOULD MERELY RAISE COSTS

A pre-paid funeral plan bill that is being introduced in the Legislature by a Representative from Greene County sounds good, but probably would only result in higher costs for such insurance, most of which is bought by the older and lower income folks.

Present laws allow the sellers to retain as their own any interest that may be earned on the policy payments made to them. His law would force the seller to return all such earnings to the buyer.

Present laws also provide that the seller may retain up to 20 per cent of any total paid in, if the policy holder cancels it. His bill would require the seller to return 100%.

Our guess is that the costs of such insurance have been figured rather closely and there is not sufficient margin of profit to pay the proposed extra expense.

If that is true, the only result would be a rise in costs of such policies. The buyer's last estate would be no better than his first in that event.

It appears to us a better way would be to require that actuarial cost studies be used in determining premiums to be paid, and the sellers profit limited. ——Paris Appeal.

PLIGHT OF THE POLICE

Attacks on our police officers across the nation continue. These are not just physical assaults but also verbal outbursts that cast aspersions on our first line of defense against the criminal. Civil rights violation protests have been a continuous thorn in the side of the officer who is trying to live up to his oath of enforcing the law and thus protecting lives and property. Now the Chicago police are being labeled as "trigger-happy."

These accusations are hard to rationalize in view of the fact that day-in and day-out assaults on policemen are chronicled by the daily press And in recent years the most hideous form of attack has come from snippers who are out to kill officers in cold blood. No motive is evident in these outrages. Policemen in squad cars and walking beats have been dispatched by gunmen lying in ambush on buildings.

Recently in Dallas a young patrol officer was killed by a teenage school burglar who had admitted on a previous arrest the commission of dozens of felonies. A few days later a police sergeant was critically wounded in Dallas as he answered a traffic accident call.

Our brave officers of the law never know when they bid their families good-bye on leaving for a tour of duty if they will see them again. The officer knows, as do the members of his family, that the felon who is capable of murder is always out there.

Do the critics who call the officer "trigger-happy" feel the same sense of danger? It is doubtful. For somewhere out in that block where the critic works is a patrolman making his lonely rounds. HLH.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON - The turntables of the billion-dollar industry are lubricated by payola, including bootleg drugs. Corrupt record companies slip marijuana, cocaine, LSD, and other drugs to disc jockeys and radio programmers for promoting "hit" records.

In our March 31 column, we reported that record companies were paying off dis jockeys in the form of cash, cars, concubines and the like. We have now learned that the payola scandals of 1959-60 have grown like rank weeds into a drug scandal of the 1970s.

Informants in the record industry, appalled at what is happening in their jangly world of sound, have come to us with information. We are withholding their names because they fear job reprisals and Mafia enforcers.

In interviews with my associate Les Whitten, and in written statements, they attest to such episodes as these:

--A promotion man for a well-known record company bought "plays" for his firm's records from radio station music directors with $20 lots of marijuana. The promotion man complained that it was difficult to find a way to list "pot" on the expense account.

--A prominent independent promoter-producer held all-day salons at which he provided assortments of drugs to disc jockeys, performers and station music directors. Our informant attended one such "promotion" session.

--An artist promoting his own record agreed to deliver drugs each week to a writer for a record magazine. In talks overheard by our witness, the pills were identified as "different colored 'shirts.' " The "shirts" were pills and the colors "referred to the type of pills to be delivered," said our informant. Not surprisingly, the record zoomed up on the publication's popularity list even though the artist was almost unknown.

So worried about the drug problem is the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) that its earnest president, Stanley Gortikov, made private calls in March to record company presidents to demand an end to drug payola.

Determined though he was to take strong action, Gortikov nevertheless wanted to prevent leaks about the drug scandal, so he discreetly read the letter to the executives but never sent them a copy.

We have now persuaded Gortikov to give us the text of his "letter," which describes the depths of the drug problem within the industry.

"Several years ago," wrote Gortikov, a former president of Capitol records, "our industry was fouled by a series of payola inquiries and charges. A repetition of this trauma may be imminent today with even more damaging potential consequences because of the possible involvement of drugs-for-play...

"Record representatives have allegedly purchased certain drugs as gifts for radio personnel in exchange for broadcast favors." Gortikov confided to the executives that "I cannot confirm the accuracy of the facts," but he added tht "these reports. if true, mirror a reprehensible condition for us all both commercially and morally.

"Such practices and their inevitable revelations invite repercusions that our industry can ill afford-government investigations, imposition of outside rules and standards, loss of imagery and credibility, financial penalty and personal disasters for individuals."

Gortikov demanded "immediate and imperative action" against "any form of pay-for-play" which he called "unconscionable, immoral and commercially self- destructive.

INVESTIGATION URGED

The veteran industry leader went so far as to urge the record companies to conduct investigations and surveillances to root out those dealing in payola among their own employees and among independent operators working as outside promoters, distributors and producers.

"The foregoing plan is stringent," said Gortikov," but we have much at stake."

Gortikov's appeal is too recent to show any real results, but our investigation has shown that most record company officials prefer to remain in the dark about how their records are peddled.

We have learned that drug-for play promotion men buy dope in broker's lots. charging off the cost to "routine promotion expenses." They deal mainly in mairjuana, although insiders have repeatedly told us cocaine is the "with it" drug this year in show biz.

In fairness to the record industry, while payola appears to be epidemic, the drug payola is apparently limited to only a few record companies and radio stations. It is particularly insidious since it fosters the narcotics traffic that poisons the industry's own youthful record customers.

Footnote: Federal Communications Commission chairman Dean Burch has assured us that the FCC will investigate the payola scandal. In his letter to us he asked for leads on payola suspects in the industry. We have offered to provide the names and details, without identifying our informants. As yet, Burch has sent us no reply.

Inside Labor

Labor Chiefs Worried: Non-union construction work sweeping the nation

WASHINGTON — Operating on the compelling philosophy that you can't import a low-cost highway, a dam or a skyscraper from Japan, the heavy construction companies have been paying solid gold-carat rates to condescending union craftsmen -- including coverage for coffee breaks, slowdowns, featherbedding, bloody jurisdictional warfare, inept work and walking time for a skilled hand to get around to the site of a nail and hammer it at leisure while the whole costly job waited.

Well, the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Dept.'s new leaders now are working overtime,crisscrossing the nation to convince the rank and file not to be so morganatic, that employers have rights, and that they may not be able to import a highway from Japan but they can build it with non-union labor.

And that's exactly what's been happening. In the past two years or so, unionized contractors have lost more than $8 billion to open-shop companies. And this statistic covers only the National Constructors Assn. (NCA)-- and not the entire massive Associated General Contractors, whose members do about $110 billion worth of building annually.

This drift to non-union construction now virtually is the only conservation piece when the general presidents of the 17 nationwide and Canadian AFL-CIO building unions get together. Their department president, Frank Bonadio, in office about a year, spends much of his time traveling, trying to convince the rank and file around the nation that this is a new era, a new economy and that they've lost hundreds of millions of dollars annually in wages. And they'd better get with it. Or they'll be without it. And could be without a union or two if they don't slash their employers' labor costs. There now is 14 per cent joblessness in the industry.

It's been tough for such men as Bonadio and his secretary-treasurer, 39-year -old Robert Georgine.

So in the next week or so you'll hear from the building and construction leaders themselves that union demands have been responsible for many of the problems they face today -- especially the sweep of non-union projects. This comes at a time when behind the scenes there still is a battle between the elusive construction stabilization board chairman Dr. John Dunlop and other government officials, especially a Pay Board subcommittee headed by Prof. Arnold Weber, which is determined to hold the line on construction wages.

Since Nov. 14, Dunlop's Construction Industry Stabilization Committee has approved some contracts averaging between 11.8 per cent and 14.9 per cent, and some rates as high as $1.53 an hour more per man.

True, there have been some renewals at zero increase such as in Tampa and Wichita, Kan. But hovering over these contracts , fretting the local construction union people, has been the sweep of non-union work.

So critical is the non-union invasion that Georgine said recently: "Right now, this is probably the most critical time the building trades has had since the inception since 1908."

So most of the national construction unions' general presidents are turning into industrial evangelists. They're telling their rank and file that too many coffee breaks will break them and the company which hires them -- and that while many contractors want to do business with the unions, they don't want to go bankrupt.

So some firms go dual -- union and non-union. And others just sign with non-AFL-CIO labor supply outfits or with ad hoc unions or independents. Then the building and construction unions rough it up as in Baton Rouge, La., not too long ago when they threw up a picket line around teh big Toro Petroleum project and the non-union workers cracked the line by helicopters.

Blood on the road is no substitute for money in the pay envelope.

So national construction union chiefs are telling their rank and file, give the employer a full day's work for a full day's pay. Respect the pact negotiated last year by a labor "Summit Committee" with the NCA -- no featherbedding, no standby crews, no illegal strikes, no slowdowns, no overtime unless vital. No incompetent stays on the job. No costly restriction on use of labor-saving tools, no holding up a milti-million -dollar job while some distant craftsman takes his time about tightening a pipe though others could have done it in a minute.

No limit on production, no restriction on the number of men in a work gang. Get to work on time and stay there until quitting time. Don't abuse travel time. The employer shall choose the foreman. No non-working shop stewards. If a union doesn't supply qualified workmen in 48 hours, the employer can get men from any source.

"It isn't that we got religion," said one spokesman for the 3.5 million-member AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department. "We're realists. I hope the rank and file are, too. This is a new era."

Holcomb Board Locks Out Dement

HOLCOMB — The Holcomb board of education has locked superintendent James Dement out of office.

The superintendent, was fired from his position and refused to vacate the seat he has held more than 15 years.

A court hearing on a request filed by the board seeking a temporary restraining order against Dement was postponed until May 12 in Dunklin county circuit court.

On April 11, Sikeston attorney Manuel Drumm, representing the Holcomb board, filed the legal papers in circuit court, asking for a temporary restraining order and injunction against Dement, seeking to prevent him from acting as superintendent. Drumm said it is hoped the request will be made into a permanent injunction.

Dement has filed an answer and counter claim to legal petitions filed by the board.

Drumm said the legal action was taken after Dement refused to vacate the premises. "The board is simply attempting to enforce their order made earlier when they announced Dement's firing." Drumm said, "the board is trying to run the school since they are elected by the public to do so."

Judge William H. Billings took the board's request under advisement when it was filed a week ago, tentatively setting the case for hearing Wednesday, when it was continued until the May setting.

In mid-March, the board announced its decision to terminate Dement's employment, citing that recent actions constituted a "breach of contract."

Drumm termed the legal action a "stop the superintendent" movement. In the petition presented the court, the board contends Dement's contract is not valid since he violated terms of the contract. The board contends Dement is not eligible for his contract pay, which does not expire until 1973, due to his "inability" to manage the school affairs.

The Daily Democrat learned today the telephone in the superintendent's office is being disconnected and routed through to another office.

One board member, speaking for the board, said the office has been locked since Monday in an all- out effort to get Dement out.

Dement's attorney filed the counter- claims against the school board and the individual board members, Jerrus Don Harris, Delbert W. Hawkins, Charles Champ, Philip R. Russom, Roland E. Morgan and Jack Vancil.

The petition filed on Dement's behalf denies the allegations pointed out in the petition and claims Dement's rights were violated, the board had no legal authority to take such action, and the board failed to mention any specific grounds as the reason for the dismissal.

Dement's petition contends the board did not comply with the Teachers Tenure Act, which protects the tenure of a permanent teacher. The petition also points out no specific grounds were ever given the defendant and the vote to terminate his contract was taken before any notice or hearing was given him, in violation of Missouri statutes.

Dement claims in the counterclaim the statute the board relied upon in their petition is not applicable in the Holcomb District, but only applies to a metropolitan school district. The statute in question states the board has the power to terminate a superintendent by a majority vote.

The petition also claims Dement has been deprived of his rights under the law as to notice of the specific charges and the action taken by the board.

The petition also mentions the "locking up" of the superintendent's office Monday, in addition to denying Dement admittance to other school facilities in order to carry out his job.

Swink Disqualifies Self From 94 Cases

FARMINGTON, Mo. (AP) — A dispute between a circuit court judge and the Ste. Francois County prosecutor has led to disqualification of the judge from all cases pending in his court.

Judge J. O. Swink said Wednesday he has disqualified himself from all 94 criminal cases at the request of Prosecuting Atty. Stanley J. Murphy.

The prosecutor said in a series of motions that Swink would be prejudiced in court cases he presents. The trouble started last month when Swink took exception to a traffic ticket issued to his court reporter, Murphy said.

Swink said he thinks one reason for the motions is that he has criticized Murphy's handling of traffic tickets.

Swink is the only judge in the 24th Circuit. He said his disqualification could set back criminal court proceedings for the next four or five years because of the heavy cases of other judges.

During the American Revolution Nathan Hale, a young schoolteacher, was hanged by the British as a spy without a trial. The World Almanac recalls that it is alleged that when Hale's jailer scornfully demanded some last words, he is reputed to have exclaimed: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

Ann Landers

Invitation To Baby Shower To The Point

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is hooked on The Supermarket Syndrome. He sits for hours and reads the food ads. Then he cuts out all the coupons and makes a road map indicating where he will go and how much he will spend. Crazy? You bet. He buys only "specials." Right now our storeroom is jammed with 24 cent tomatoes and 19 cent beans. When we go shopping together it's murder. I can stand on my head and if the item I want isn't on sale, he won't buy it. When there's a special on meat he tries to corner the market. Our freezer can't hold another lamb shank. The fact tht nobody in the family likes lamb doesn't mean a thing to him.

What he saves on groceries he spends on gasoline, but he doesn't see this. Yesterday he drove 19 miles to save 11 cents on a broom. He bought four brooms and figured he had saved 44 cents. When I told him the broom we have is like new, and that I rarely use it because I mostly vacuum and use a damp mop, he accused me of trying to spoil his fun. What can I do with a man like that? We've been married 37 years. --- Mrs. Bargain Hunter

Dear Mrs. Hunter: Bargain-shopping is a darn good hobby these days -- but your character is hopped on pinching pennies and it sounds as if this is his principal source of kicks. Along with the lamb shanks in his freezer, the guy's got some hornets in his helmet. The game he plays is nutty but it's relatively harmless. For get it.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what to do about the following invitation. It came from both the friend who is giving the baby shower and the girl for whom the shower is being given.

"Dear ---------:

You are invited to a shower. Please follow instructions because duplication of items means money wasted. We would like you to bring three or more five-month size shirts with short sleeves and buttons. Also, diaper pins with metal heads that lock. (IMPORTANT: GET EXACTLY THE KIND DESCRIBED OR NONE AT ALL.)

If you can afford more than suggested, buy soft toys. Absolutely NO diapers or knitted sets, PLEASE."

What do you think of this invitation, Ann I'm --- In a Quandry

Dear Quan: I think if you bring diapers or a knitted set, the hostess might hit you. She sounds as if she means business.

My advice is to disregard the "invoice" and bring what you please. Or check the movies in town and see a good flick instead.

Dear Ann Landers: What can we do about friends who monopolize every conversation with the following topics: their trip to Europe, their new car, their new home, their son's honors, their daughter's popularity, the evening spent at the home of the Company President. They bla bla bla bla ... rattle rattle ... talk talk ... bragg brag.

My husband and I are so sick of these egomaniacs we hate to see them coming. But we've been friends for so many years it would be impossible to stop seeing them. They didn't used to be this way. It happened when they came into a little money.

Any advice will be appreciated. After an evening with them my husband and I have to take something for indigestion, and I am not kidding. --- Rope's End.

Dear Rope's: Life is too short to spend evenings with people who make you sick. And these people do -- figuratively and literally. Time enhances good friendships and diminishes others. When you reach the point of no return, write it off.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking And Petting -- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers i care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A DISTRICT SPELLING contest will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the junior high school with students from six Illinois counties and six Missouri counties participating. Representing Sikeston will be, from left, Barbara Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vaughn, first place winner at the junior high school; Mrs. Helen Marshall, teacher and spelling instructor and Shavonna Marcus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marcus, the second place winner.

Open House Planned Sunday For Shady Acres Childrens Home

Open house will be Sunday between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. at the Shady Acres Church of Christ Childrens Home on Oklahoma Street.

The six-bedroom home was started April 4, 1971 and is built to house a maximum of 10 children. The church is working with the welfare department and as soon as house parents are chosen foster children will be placed in the home.

The home cost approximately $30,000. Church members donated their labor and time and supplies were bought at cost.

On the board of directors are Ferrell Kellett, Howard Woodall, Raymond Blackwelder, John Woodard, Larry Kellett and Wendell Pearson. E. A. Hanks, one of the original directors, will be the superintendent of the home.

Women Advised To Learn About Social Security, Insurance

What is the most basic money problem that causes people to buy life insurance?

This was one of the questions asked by Kent Melton, assistant manager of the Traveler's Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, Thursday at the second Women's Finance Forum sponsored by First National Bank at the Ramada Inn.

Most people buy life insurance to replace their earning ability when it is destroyed, Melton said.

"A person's earning ability, the ability to get up and go to work every day, is worth far more than any other asset that he may own," Melton said.

Earning ability is destroyed by premature death, disability and old age. Social Security does the same thing as life insurance for less money, Melton said, but not everyone is aware of Social Security benefits.

He tried to raise questions in the minds of the women so that they would get out their life insurance policies and their husband's and check Social Security benefits in case they should need it.

Statistics show that women who receive life insurance in a lump sum will spend it in five years, no matter how large the amount. They anticipate it will last for a longer time, but many women have never handled such a large amount of money and cannot do it wisely.

"When a widow receives a large sum of money every one near her tries to become an advisor. She should rely on people whose profession can give her the best advice, such as her banker, attorney, insurance agent or accountant," Melton advised.

There are two main types of life insurance, term, which supplies the greatest amount of money when it is needed and decreases as the person gets older and the need for earning ability is not as great; permanent life insurance has a savings feature for later years.

"What kind of life insurance policy is best?

Melton said that there are so many variables which depend upon what a person wants his life insurance policy to do. "For example," he explained "a retirement income policy, may not be best to educate the children or pay off the mortgage."

Elmer Morice of the estate planning department of the St. Louis Union Trust Company will speak Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn on wills and estates.

THE REV. WARREN HAMBY, right, author of "Eight Keys To Happiness" and "Winds Of Chance," and the Rev. Paul Gauntt, song leader, are holding revival services at Dexter Methodist Church.

Revival Minister Author Of 2 Books

DEXTER — The Rev. Warren C. Hamby has been described as "displaying an unusual gift in being a part of that small number of people who can both speak and write brilliantly," by W. Kenneth Bishop, in the introduction of the Rev. Hamby's book, "Winds of Change."

The Rev. Mr. Hamby is leading revival services this week at Dexter United Methodist Church and serves a congregation of 2,000 as senior minister of the Huffman United Methodist Church in Birmingham. He is a member of the North Alabama Conference of the United Methodist Church and has held pastoraes in Huntsville, Ala., and Jackson, Miss., the largest Methodist church in the state.

He received his bachelor of arts degree in 1950 at Birmingham Southern College, his bachelor of divinity degree in 1952 at Chandler School of Theology, Emory University, and master of science in theology degree in 1956 at Boston Univeristy School of Theology. He was ordained a deacon in 1950 and an elder in 1952.

The Rev. Mr. Hamby, son of a Methodist minister, is author of another book, "Eight Keys to Happiness.

"Eight Keys to Happiness" has been described by ministers as one of the best books written on the Beatitudes. The book deals with problems of 20th century man.

"Winds of Change," a study of the book of Jeremiah, compares the ancient prophet and man's search today for peace and stability.

The Rev. Mr. Hamby and wife, Mary Farr, have four children, Warren Jr., 23; Barbara, 21, Jan, 16; and Mike, 15.

Revival Will Come

WHEN the thorn tree of strife is rooted from the heart.

WHEN apologies are made for unkind, nasty words, and grievances adjusted in a manner pleasing to God.

WHEN the dead atmosphere of indifference, indolence and lukewarmness is dispelled by a fresh anointing of the Holy Spirit.

WHEN there are long vigils of prayer in which the soul is laid bare before God in humiliation and contrition.

WHEN the killing frost of smug complacency is confessed and renounced. (Amos 6:1-7; Rev. 3:14-22).

WHEN prayer, Bible study, and meditation is practiced in the individual life.

WHEN faith takes hold of God's promises and resists every attack and accusation of Satan.

WHEN personal testimony is warm and buttressed by a holy life.

WHEN we attempt great things for God and expect great things from God.

WHEN Christian people are willing to face opposition, ridicule, persecution, hate, suffering and shame for Jesus' sake—rather than compromise their convictions or soften their witness against sin.

THEN the revival will come—in supernatural power!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
By Dr. William H. Taft

For April 23, 1972

SCRIPTURE: Mark 5:1-20; Acts 8:4-40; 18:24-28
(Based on outlines prepared by the Department of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and use by permission.)

THE WITNESSING FELLOWSHIP

Many ways exist in our present society to spread the news. Some persons turn to their newspapers and magazines, others to the radio and television stations for their information.

Without such communication sources the early followers of Christ found it necessary to spread His message through witnesses. Several examples are reviewed in today's Scripture readings.

Members of the Christian fellowship witness in their daily relationships through their style of living. Mark offered this advice when he wrote, "Go home to your friends and tell them how much the Lord has done for you, and how He has had mercy on you."

Who are the witnesses in your church today? Where do they acquire the information needed to witness for Christ? To what do they witness? For some guidelines we turn to the Scriptures.

Jesus told His followers to go out and tell what the Lord had done for them. Philip, a Greek, went to Samaria to tell the Samaritans more about Jesus, to proclaim Him as the triumphant Messiah through whom God acted to offer man salvation.

Philip was a success. The people believed him and they were baptized. Simon so believed him that he joined Philip in his mission. The excitement reached Peter and John who went to see the Samaritans and "laid their hands on them and they received the Holy Spirit." Simon became so excited over this incident that he offered Peter and John money for the power to hand out the Holy Spirit.

"God's gift was not for sale," Simon was told. He repented, wept, and prayed for forgiveness for his wicked thought. The example is significant; God's gift is still not for sale. It can be acquired through witnessing for Him.

Philip performed another ceremony to witness Christ when he baptized an eunuch. First Philip assisted the man in his reading of Isaiah; then he told him more about the good news of Jesus.

Another witness was Apollos, an Alexandrian by birth, who became well read in the Old Testament. He knew some facts about Jesus yet he was not fully informed of His role.

Several friends of Paul, including Priscilla and Aquila, recognized the potential role Apollos could play in witnessing for Christ. They instructed him in the "way of God more accurately." Eager to learn, the Greek continued his study and became a disciple of Paul.

Jesus said "All things are possible to him that believeth." So it was with these individuals who witnessed for Christ, each in his own way.

The importance of verbal witness to those about us cannot be overplayed. There are risks involved in witnessing, yet these will never discourage the faithful.

Persons respond to sincere witnessing. Examples are plentiful in our publications. Guideposts is a monthly guide to successful living based on examples of those who have witnessed for Christ.

Abraham Lincoln once said, "I can see how it might be possible for a man to look down upon the earth and be an atheist, but I cannot conceive how he could look up into the Heavens and say there is no God."

Jesus told his followers to witness to others what they had experienced. The early church leaders, scattered about in many communities, had many opportunities to witness.

Age is no barrier. The youngest and oldest can witness their faith in God's teachings.

A 60-SEAT SCHOOL BUS, recently purchased from the Twin Rivers school district, is receiving extensive use at First Church of the Nazarene, Scott and Trotter streets. Cleaned, painted, repaired and in service for five Sundays, the bus is used primarily to bring children to Sunday School. The church is now in the process of purchasing two more buses.

Giusti Features Palm Ball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates needed a hand in the ninth inning and settled for Dave Giusti's palm.

"I went to the palm ball and it worked," Pittsburgh's top reliever said after bailing the Pirates out a late jam to preserve a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday night.

Giusti reached back for his Sunday pitch after the Cubs had scored two runs with none out and had a man on second.

He coaxed Art Shamsky to foul out, then got Rick Monday and Bill North on strikeouts.

"I figured they had never seen the palm ball," said Giusti, referring to National League newcomers Monday and North. "I used them on Monday to set him up and struck him out on a fastball. Then I used the palm ball all the way with North."

The hot Los Angeles Dodgers walloped the Atlanta Braves 11-1 and the San Francisco Giants beat the San Diego Padres 2-1 in the National League's other games Thursday.

The Baltimore Orioles nipped the Detroit Tigers 1-0 in the American League's only game. Rain washed out the game between Milwaukee and New York.

Pittsburgh took a comfortable 7-3 lead into the ninth inning on the combined pitching efforts of Dock Ellis and Luke Walker. But Walker issued free passes to the first two batters in the last inning and then gave up a two-run double to Don Kessinger.

Giusti replaced Walker at this juncture and squirmed out of hot water.

Manny Sanguillen drove in two early runs for the Pirates and they scored three more runs in a seventh-inning rally highlighted by Willie Stargell's first home run of the season. Ron Santo crashed a two-run homer for Chicago in the sixth.

The Dodgers continued their assault on Atlanta's beleagured pitching staff, scoring six runs in the second inning on seven straight singles. A total of 18 hits in Thursday night's game at Atlanta Stadium gave the Dodgers 50 for their four-game sweep of the Braves. They scored 26 runs.

Bobby Bonds singled home the second of two San Francisco runs in the fifth inning and the Giants held on to beat San Diego. Sam McDowell pitched the first five innings for the Giants and gained his second National League victory with relief help from Jim Barr and Jerry Johnson.

Loser Steve Arlin had a nohitter going until Chris Speier opened the fifth inning with an infield hit to trigger the Giants' two-run rally.

FLOYD CRAVENS, Parma, shows off more than 21 pounds of catfish he hooked at a lake near Parma. The biggest catch was a six and one half pounder.

Missouri U. Athletic Director Dead At 62

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup, 62, athletic director at the University of Missouri and coach of basketball at MU from 1946-61, died early today in Boone County Hospital.

Stalcup had been hospitalized since April 9 when he suffered an apparent heart attack. He was moved from intensive care only this week and, authorities said, suffered another apparent attack Thursday afternoon.

A three-sport star at Northwest Missouri State College, Stalcup was named to a number of all-star basketball teams while playing under Coach Henry Iba at Maryville.

After graduation he began his coaching career at Jackson, Mo., high school. The following year he took over the basketball reins at Maryville succeeding Iba who moved to Colorado.

At Maryville he compiled a record of 162 victories against 55 losses. During his 16 years at the helm of the Missouri Tigers, Stalcup teams won 195 games while losing 179.

Stalcup retired in 1962 to become top administrative assistant to former athletic director Don Faurot and later to Dan Devine. He was named to succeed Devine in February of 1971 when Devine left to become coach of the professional football Green Bay Packers.

A former president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, Stalcup also was a member of the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame.

A native of Forbes, Mo., a rural community near Holt about 25 miles north of Kansas City, Stalcup's voice became well known to Missouri football fans as he broadcast color on the games for many years.

Survivors include the widow, Isabel, a daughter, Mrs. Susan Gray of Columbia, two granddaughters, and a brother and sister.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Rain Halts Sports

Weather has halted high school sports with rain forcing the cancellation of Sikeston High School golf and tennis matches and three area baseball games that were scheduled originally for Thursday afternoon.

The Sikeston High School tennis match at Caruthersville has been rescheduled for Monday. The SHS golfers also were slated to compete at Caruthersville and have reset the date for this afternoon.

In area baseball, the games of Bernie at Campbell, Advance at Woodland, and Lilbourn at Hayti were cancelled because of the weather. No definite plans have been made for rescheduling them.

Cage Playoffs Resume Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — New York struck out on Boston's fast ball, and if the Knicks want to stay in the game they're going to have to go slow.

Player-philosopher Bill Bradley was analyzing the sticky status of the National Basketball Association semifinal series which the Celtics could tie tonight if the Knicks fall into their trap again.

The Knicks, who took command of the best-of-seven series 2-0 by setting their own pace, lost game No. 3 because they ran to the Celtics' rhythm.

"They were able to up the tempo of the game," said Bradley. "We were able to keep up with them in the third quarter, but then they started hitting and we started missing."

STOLEN MERCHANDISE

Mel Daniels of the Indiana Pacers is still trying to recover a truckload of possessions stolen from his home last summer while he was touring in Vietnam. When he returned home he found a gun collection, his ABA championship ring, his first All-Star ring, an All-Star watch, 18 other watches, six other rings, three pair of All-Star cuff links, three chain bracelets and two of his wife's fur coats missing.

Girls File Suit Against League

BOSTON — Three preteen Newton girls have gone into U.S. District Court seeking the right to play baseball in the all-male Little League.

Lawyers for the girls asked Judge Frank J. Myrray Wednesday for a temporary restraining order to halt Little League play until the suit was heard. Judge Murray denied the motion and assigned the case to Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr.

No date was set for a hearing.

Ann Bond, 10, spokesman for the plaintiffs, said in an interview that league officials told her she couldn't play "because boys don't like to play with girls at that age."

"But I want to play in some organized league," she said. "I don't really care if I play with boys or not. Boys are people just like anybody else, and I'll play with anybody."

"Boys are okay," she added. "Some of them, anyway."

Ann said she has played quite a bit of baseball in pickup games with boys, alternating between first base and outfield, like the Red Sox Carl Yastrzemski. She bats .333 better than Yaz, although most of her hits are singles.

The other plaintiffs are Cynthia Wachs, 10, and Linda Speizer, 9.

Cynthia, a catcher, also bats about .333. Linda, also a catcher, has played in only one game with boys. She collected two singles in four trips.

"Most of the time I just play catch with my father," she said.

The girls' suit charged sex discrimination and contended the Little League rules make girls feel inferior to boys.

The suit said the league's practice also victimizes boys because they are taught they are superior to girls and are "the dominant member of the human species."

Turkey Season Begins Monday

JEFFERSON CITY — An estimated 15,000 turkey hunters will be taking advantage of the longest season in modern times between April 24- May 7.

Hunters will be after bearded birds -- the beard is a tuft of bristles which projects from a turkey's breast. Normally, only a gobbler has a beard, but a few hens do.

Ther will be 53 open counties, including nine for the first time -- Lewis, Clark, Pike, Lincoln, St. Charles, Polk, Webster, Ripley and Livingston.

Other open counties include Adair, Barry, Benton, Bollinger, Butler, Callaway, Camden, Carter, Cedar, Crawford, Dent, Douglas, Franklin, Gasconade, Hickory, Howell, Iron, Jefferson, Madison, McDonald, Maries, Miller, Monroe, Montgomery, Morgan, New Madrid, Oregon, Osage, Ozark, Perry, Phelps, Pulaski, Reynolds, Shannon, St. Clair, Ste. Genevieve, St. Francois, Stone, Sullivan, Taney, Texas, Warren, Washington and Wayne.

Hunting hours are from 5 a.m. to noon, Central Standard Time. Daylight Saving Time goes into effect April 30, but hunting hours remain on standard time.

All turkeys taken must be tagged, either with a $7.80 resident turkey tag or with a home- made tag in the case of farmers hunting on the land where they reside. Non-resident turkey permits cost $30.30.

All turkeys must be checked between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. on the day they are taken, either in the county where taken or in an adjoining county which has a check station.

Missouri's wild turkey restoration program has been one of unrestrained success. In the 1930s, there were estimated less than 4,000 birds in the entire state, the population of the birds continues to expand rapidly.

There are nine "walk-in" hunting areas this year where road access will be closed. Turkey hunting is a solitary sport which is ruined by numbers and state and federal agencies have cooperated in setting up these areas to give a quality hunting experience to the hunter who tries harder.

The areas are Bell Mountain, Peter Cave Hollow, Ketcherside Mountain and Crane Pond, all in Iron County; Silver Mines in Madison County; Scotia- Marcoot in Dent and Reynolds Counties; Natural Bridge in Phelps County; Warren Valley in Reynolds county, and Steam Mill Hollow in Howell County. Maps are available from U.S. Forest Service district headquarters listed on the turkey leaflet which is available where turkey tags are sold.

The 1971 season saw both a record number of modern times hunters (12,306) and a new state record weight bird, 33 pounds, 13 ounces, taken by Bob Stephens of Salem in Dent County.

One of the original 14 counties which were open for hunting in the first modern season in 1960, Ste. Genevieve, was the leading county for the third straight year.

Hunter success last year was 23 percent, compared to 16.3 in 1970 and 12.7 in 1969. Best previous year was in 1963 with 18.1 percent.

BUCKS BOMBARD

The Milwaukee Bucks ran up 156 points against the Philadelphia 76ers in a 1970 playoff game to set the NBA record for highest score by one team in a playoff game.

MAGIC POTION

Rugged tight end Charlie Sanders of the Detroit Lions has a special recipe for lifting himself out of the doldrums: "Start with a couple of raw eggs. Then, add some honey, a bunch of bananas, some Karo syrup, some malted milk, some dry milk, some regular milk, and a couple of scoops of ice cream. Throw it all in a blender and goosh it up real good. Then, drink it." Sanders says he drinks two quarts of the stuff a day.

"DOGGONE, is this any way to run an airport?" this luggage-encased cutie probably thinks after waiting an hour like this at the new Frankfurt-Main air terminal in West Germany.

RICHARD JAECKEL, a familiar but more or less anonymous face in movies and television has his first meaty role in almost 30 years of acting in "Sometimes a Great Notion."

FARMER ANGER over criticism of rising meat prices brought a demand from Tony Dechant, president of the National Farmers Unions, for a government investigation into chain store food profits.

River Raps At Doors In Commerce

50 years ago
April 21, 1922

Chaffee - Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Ashley visited at Jackson the weekend.

Commerce -- The river is the news of the week in and about Commerce. It is an adventure to get into a rowboat from your own front step -- if the front step is of wood, it has been washed away. And it is a spectacular scene that meets the eye from the hills above the village. Big Island and Burnham's can be located by the trees only; the same can be said of miles of mainland, toward the Benton road and Sandywoods district.

Matthews -- Miss Ruby Byrd shopped in Sikeston Saturday.

Several friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. L. Matthews surprised them Tuesday evening. A very enjoyable time was held by those present. Bridge was the entertainment for the evening.

Morley -- Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mize of Sikeston moved to the Aunt Mollie Congleton home last week.

Route One - Paul Witt made a buisness trip to Oran Sunday.

Matthews -- Granville Mainord of New Madrid was a Matthews visitor Tuesday.

Fire of undetermined origin early Tuesday destroyed the main building of the Meyer Brothers Gin plant here, with an estimated loss of $6,500 to $10,000. The fire started inside of the large sheet iron building, on the second floor.

George Page, farmer resident of the Crowder neighborhood, about three miles northwest of McMullin, worked all day Tuesday laying off watermelon rows. When evening came he loaded his plow on a farm wagon and started to drive home. Neighbors happened to notice the team trotting more or less aimlessly towards the Page residence, and went to investigate. They found the aged farmer suffering from an attack of apoplexy of which he died.

W.N. Parsons of Rainer, Ore., visiting in Sikeston since last Monday, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stokes Thursday morning. He had come to this city, he told former school mates, to see about the estate of his cousin, the late Martha Martin.

Mrs. Nathan Yoffee left Wednesday for Savannah, Ga., in response to a message that her mother, Mrs. Ida Nathan, was critically ill at the home of another daughter, Mrs. S.G. Bodziner in that city.

Wade Shankle, former commander of Co. C. of the National Guard, who left Sikeston with the unit early in 1941, has been promoted from captain to major.

Hospital news. A daughter was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Diebold of Portageville. She has been named Celeste.

Bertrand -- Mr. and Mrs. R.M. McKinney were called to Sikeston Tuesday, to be with their son, Lindell, who was seriously hurt in a car wreck earlier during the day.

J.M. Pitman, who suffered throat hemorrhages last week, has been confined to his home since.

Mrs. G.R. Harper returned Saturday from Edinburg, Tex., where she spent the winter at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Bloomfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neiderstadt of Matthews are parents of a daughter born on the 19th at the Delta Community Hospital.

Patricia Ann is the name selected for the new baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vernon Britt, born on the 14th. The new baby is the first child of the Britts. Mrs. Britts is the former Miss Viola Burns of Sikeston.

East Prairie - Mrs. Maud Gilmore of Charleston was a Sunday guest of relatives and friends at East Prairie.

Services for Charlie Crawford, 68, Thayer, Mo., brother of Jim Crawford of Sikeston, were yesterday.

Three Sikeston high trackmen and one from Matthews have hung up high ranking performances in their events, according to a list of state marks compiled by the State HIgh School Activities Association. Up to April 12, Walter Bizzell's 53.4 seconds for the 440 yard dash was the best time in the state. One the same report, Tommy Dunaway's broad jump of 21 feet was also on top. Pat Nickens of the Bulldogs and Jim Burchfield of Matthews ranked four and five in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Services for Miss Queen Florence Harris, 77, a resident of this vicinity for the past 16 years, who died at a brother's home near Essex Saturday, were held today.

Wage Ruling Affects A&P Meat Cutters

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) -- A federal judge ruled in favor of the government Wednesday in what was described as the nation's first case testing the wage portion of the Phase 2 wage- price guidelines.

Judge C. Stanley Blair upheld the government in its suit which sought an injunction to bar A&P food stores from paying 77 union meat cutters wage increases of between 15 and 22 per cent.

U.S. Atty George Beall, who filed the suit for the government Feb. 24, said it was the first action on wages.

Blair said he would sign an injunction preventing A&P from paying, or Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union Local 117 from receiving, a wage increase negotiated after an eight - day strike last year.

A&P and the union also were fined $2,500 in a civil penalty imposed by Blair.

Trial Fair Even If Kidnap Involved

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Benny chose a life of crime primarily because the hours were optional. What weren't optional, however, were the severe penalties if caught. After pulling off several financially successful capers, Benny decided to take off for Chile until things cooled down.

Midway to his destination, however, two detectives, who had been working on the capers, caught up with him and spirited him back to the state where he committed his crimes. And in due course he was convicted on all charges. Nevertheless, Benny demanded his immediate release.

"The trial was illegal, unconstitutional and unsportsmanlike," he insisted. "I was kidnapped by those two detectives and brought back against my will. It was a plain case of abduction."

"How we got Benny back is unimportant," retorted the prosecuting attorney, " and has no bearing upon his conviction. The only question is, did he get a fair trial? And the answer to that is it couldn't have been any fairer had it been presided over by Little Orphan Annie."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you set Benny free because of is abduction.

This is how the judge ruled: NO! he judge held that the power of a court to try a person for a crime is not impaired by the fact that he may have been brought within the court's jurisdiction by reason of forcible abuction. All that is required is that he be given a fair trial. (Based upon a 1952 United States Supreme Court Decision.

Personalized Tags Added To Auto Title Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) -- The Missouri House of Representatives added a personalized license plate section to a routine bill on automobile title transfers Wednesday and sent it back to the Senate.

For $12 extra any Missouri automobile owner could have his own personalized license plate so long as it is not obscene. Disabled war veterans would get the special plates free. Sponsors said there are about 41,300 Missourians who are totally disabled war veterans.

Dear Editor:

The schoolteachers' lobby, National Education Association, is promoting a national campaign to escalate Federal Aid for Education from a current $3.3 Billion annually to $15 Billion. The Association expects to accomplish this by electing Congressmen and endorsing a President. Since the funds for this purpose must be borrowed, the result will be a further increase in taxes and added fuel for inflation.

The NEA is a strong advocate of busing, "Humanism" (an anti- God religion) and strong Federal control over public schools.

Parent- Teacher Associations, please take notice. This questionable, expensive program is being financed with YOUR dollars.

To the Editor
Sikeston Standard

Dear Editor:

"President Nixon is the greatest war criminal in history". That statement was recently said by Ly Van Sau, the chief Viet Cong press spokesman. He said it after Pres. Nixon unleashed full scale bombing on North Vietnam. But what this man failed to say was that he (or the Communists) had prompted Nixon to bomb N. Vietnam because of the offensive initiated by the Communists. It is doubtless in my mind that Pres. Nixon plans on withdrawing more men from Vietnam, because of promises he has made and the up coming election. But he would be a fool if he were to allow the Communists to go scott free in their attempts to force a way of government on a free people.

Hopefully the South Vietnamese will be able to stand up and defend themselves, something, they could not have been able to do if our troops would have been withdrawn earlier.

Sincerely
Timothy P.O'Herin

the lab technicians must develop their expretise in each area, and drug identifcation is the easiest to begin with.

Drug cases still make up over 70 per cent of the work load but this will soon drop as the lab branches out, he said.

Other areas in which the lab works incude alcohol content analysis, blood alchhol analysis, and blood stain typing. Other things besides blood that can be typed include seman, saliva, ear wax, nasal drippings, and hair. The lab technicians have the expertise to work in these areas Brinner said.

Briner said he would like to see the lab begin working on fingerprints, ballistics and tool mark comparisons. He said someday he would like to see the lab working on foreries and questioned documents. At present there isn't much demand for these services.

Briner said the lab has become increasingly important because of recent supreme court rulings. It is almost impossible today to go to court without labortory analysis of the evidence, he added.

This makes the collection of evidence essential. The decision an officer makes in the first five or 10 minutes after arriving at the scene of a crime, will often affect whether the prosecutor has a case, Briner said.

Evidence should be placed in sealed glass containers to prevent loss, he said, and if being sent to the crime lab, the evidence should be either sent by registered mail or delivery by hand.

The peace Officers Association will meet July 20 in Benton.

A—Federalist.

Q—On what island in New York Harbor is the Statue of Liberty?
